PREFACE.

IT is with the greatest satisfaction of having completed a good job, that we present to the business community of Hartford this, the Sixty-fourth Volume of GEER'S HARTFORD CITY DIRECTORY.

In compiling the directory our original canvass ended June 25th, but in order to make the directory more complete and accurate down to the date of issue we have taken pains to review the canvass since that date, and have noted all changes which have occurred by removals in the city, and migrations from the city, down to the date of publication.

This review has required a large amount of extra time, labor and expense, but the publishers are not disposed to count either labor or expense when the directory can be made more accurate—accuracy being the foundation stone—or complete in its information, and we believe that the patrons of the work will appreciate our efforts in this particular direction. These changes are shown for the most part in the body of this work and also in the errata on pages 25 and 34—changes came too late for classification. July 11th and August 8th, after one-half of the names were in pages ready to print, we canvassed the new factory moved here the 1st, and obtained some three hundred names, which were all placed in alphabetical order, necessitating a large expense in over-running those pages. August 16th the last canvass was made of all the vacant tenements, and August 23d the last new name and change added to the Errata.

We give vital statistics showing all marriages, births deaths and divorces in the city for the past year on pages 432 and 441, and the migrations from the city on pages 424 to 432 besides the present use for which this list of migrations or removals from Hartford to distant places may have, we are in hopes that where property interests and family ties are concerned in future years, this will prove of great service in tracing or locating these individuals. And under the head of deaths, we give the date, and age of the deceased.

We present this year for the second time, half-tone photographs of many of our leading men who make the wheels of commerce and trade revolve; and this year have added another feature to the pages of the "Old Residents and Corporations" none less than half-tone photographs of 25 of our active and retired citizens who have passed the age of 80, several reaching unto 95; there are still some half dozen or more of these venerable gentlemen in the city of whom we were unable, for one reason or another, to procure a picture, and, therefore were very reluctantly obliged to omit from this group.

We have believed this to be an exceedingly interesting feature of the information sought for in a city directory, and the public has fully appreciated this effort of ours. We regret in this connection to say we were unable to present this feature to all of our patrons this year. Next year we will promise to remedy that if possible. For list of half-tones, see page 9.

Another new feature of this year's directory is a list of the graduates of the High scho the grammar schools of the city, together with the name and residence of the parents graduates, thus fully identifying each scholar; and half-tone photographs of all the pri This cannot fail to be of interest to the graduates, their parents and friends, as recordi first public achievement of the child. It may also serve as one of the very best references a boy can give to say he graduated from school, and his name is recorded in the history of that year in GEER'S HARTFORD CITY DIRECTORY.

Half-tone photographs of the presidents and leaders of our colleges, seminaries, and public and private institutions give additional interest to this year's issue.

Still another feature of this year's directory is a tabulated statement of the numb names added as contained in the directory each year from 1838 when GEER'S HARTFORD DIRECTORY was first published. This is of historical interest, and is given in detail on page 7.

GEER'S Classified Business Directory on pages 753-810, consists of 7,404 firms and companies doing business, and classified under 1,302 headings. It also contains 1,238 new firms' names added, with 1,021 firms names erased and 674 changes in street locations of same.

From the 8,579 new names which have been added in this year's directory, deduct the 7,711 names struck out as having moved away or died, it leaves a net gain of 868. By multiplying 868 by the ratio of 2.065, we have the increase in population of 1,792 for the past twelve months.

GEER'S Street Guide has been amplified one-third in size, and we believe is the most extensive ever issued of any city, having in addition to the numbers at street corners the loc of all churches, schools, public halls, office buildings, hotels, great factories, spots of hi note, public parks and size, the ends of trolley car lines, etc.

Four full page half-tone views of Main street show the growth and change in forty years in the buildings. Two were taken in 1860, and two in 1901: a very marked contrast.

Diagrams of PARSONS THEATRE and the New HARTFORD OPERA HOUSE are given on pages 510B, 640, respectively. We are very glad to have been able to procure these for this issue.

A further evidence of the prosperity and solid growth of the city is shown by the enumeration of vacant stores, houses and tenements at the close of the canvass. On 11 principal streets there are only 38 vacant stores. On the 395 residence streets, there are 1,472 vacant tenements.

We have often been asked during the past few years: "Why don't you give us a re-print of the History of Hartford?" and these requests being so often and so frequently, we have this year consented to do so. The 15 pages, beginning with page 413, will be found "Geer's History of Hartford. Salient facts from 1636 to 1887." There is told the story of fact of the beginning of free Popular Constitutional Government, enough in itself to make every citizen of Hartford as proud as a Lord. This style of government was a pattern for the entire United States.

We have introduced for the first time a cartoon, and just why Mr. Andrew Carnegie, Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and King Edward VII should appear in this Directory, will best be shown when the humor of it and its application is caught on page 713.

We thank our business men for their kind words of encouragement, and their substantial patronage. We are open to congratulations.

We would ask as kindly criticism as is consistent with the detection of any errors, and would be glad to have immediate notice of such at any and all times during the year sent direct to us; this is your directory, made to save your time, patience and money.

For further information as to the growth of the city, reference is made to the following tables:

WHAT THE PRESS SAY ABOUT US.

THE BROOKLYN EAGLE

of New York city, in its Annual Book Number of Dec. 1, 1900, says:

"A MODEL DIRECTORY.

A city directory is not an unusual subject for review, yet as there are directories and directories, it may not be amiss to point out what makes a good one. And an example comes to hand in the Hartford Directory, published in the capitol of Connecticut by Elihu Geer's Sons. In this the citizen is not merely shown in his habit, as he lives, but in his overalls, as he works. In other words, one is able to catch him in his shop or office, and if not found there, he is directed to his home, and if his home is that pretense for a home that is known as a flat, the stranger knows just which floor he is on, and therefore can tell which bell to ring without striking a match. Furthermore, if the citizen has left Hartford within a year the directory man has followed him, though it be to the ends of the earth, and has given his new address in Australia or Saugerties. Nay, more, if the citizen has arrived upon the scene within the year he has the distinction of print, with the names of his parents and his sex, if he is too young to have achieved a name. Once more: If he has been so thoughtless as to die or be divorced, those facts likewise have pursued him into publicity. If he has married the occurrence is noted, with the date of the achievement. Yet again, if one wishes to find a certain church or asylum or public institution he is helped in the search, not merely by a sensible alphabetical arrangement of names, but by a picture of the structure that enables him to identify it in an instant. There are scores of portraits of prominent citizens and public officers, statistics relating to city and state affairs, ample information respecting schools, societies and what not, with lists of the year's graduates from grammar and high schools. Complete data respecting charities, religious societies and business corporations, a large map, an explicit street guide and many pages of matter concerning wider topics that more usually find their way into big almanacs, like those of the Ea There is a Connecticut geographical directory, a various other matters that make of this volume w is probably the most complete of its kind that is pu lished in the United States. The 82,000 citizens Hartford are congratulated."

THE OUTLOOK

of New York city, in its issue of Jan. 12, 1901, says:

"The modern city directory, while an immense convenience, is usually about as dry-as-dust a volume as can be imagined. We go a little out of our way to review Mr. Geer's directory because it is a successful effort to make such a volume a reference book of value to the library and of interest to the citizens, as well as a mere compilation of names and addresses. In this volume, in addition to the usual directory features, there is a large amount of statistical information about the city of general value—pictures and official records of the various churches, for example; illustrations of the schools and educational institutions; vital statistics of the city for the current year, and the like. Indeed, it may be called really a city year book instead of a city directory, and we think the plan on which it is carried out might profitably adopted in other centers of population."

STATE SCHOOL FUND

At the end of fiscal year, Sept. 30, 1900, amounted to $2,018,641.29; nine-tenths of which is invested in real estate mortgages, and the balance in bank stocks and cash on hand. In the year 1795 this fund amounted to $1,200,000.00. From the income of this fund there has been distributed to the common schools of this state between the years 1796 and 1897 and since then paid to State Treasurer for civil list $10,082,338.94. The Oct. 1900 census of children in the State between four and sixteen years of age, was 199,037, being an increase of 4,600 children over the previous year's enumeration. EARTHQUAKES IN NEW ENGLAND.

The whole earthly structure of New England shows it once teemed with volcanoes which poured forth rivers of lava, and the chain of volcanoes extended as far south as Virginia, and as far to the northeast as Nova Scotia, but Connecticut was evidently the seat of the greatest disturbances. ELIHU GEER SONS

GUIDE TO STREETS, AVENUES, ETC.

Entered according to Act of Congress, A. D. 1901, by The Hartford Printing Company, in office of Librarian of Congress, Washington, D. C.

The figures 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10 on the right of the names of each street indicate the wards in which the same are located,—the ward boundaries generally run in the center of streets.—See Table of Contents.

This Guide indicates at a glance the proximate locality of any required number on any street; for example, if you desire to know about where No. 800 Asylum street is located, this guide shows you that, being an even number, it will be found on the north side, and about mid-way between Sumner and Huntington streets.

The streets running north and south are numbered from the south excepting Wethersfield, Maple, Franklin, New Park and Evergreen avenues, Hopkins, Babcock, and Columbia streets and Park terrace, those running east and west are numbered from Main st., or from end of street pointing thereto, excepting North st. Odd numbers on SOUTH and WEST sides, uniformly.

The names of all streets running north and south (except Main, Broad and Laurel), change at Park river, and all east and west at crossing Main street.

No. 64;
GEER'S HARTFORD CITY DIRECTORY;
JULY, 1901.

To Find a Name you should know how to Spell it.

ABBREVIATIONS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The business location of individuals engaged in business for themselves, is first mentioned in connection with their names, and then their place of residence; persons not thus engaged, but employed by others, are mentioned first as AT THE No. and street or AT THE company where employed, and then their place of residence.

* Signifies that only one partner of the firm named could be ascertained.

Where female names are mentioned without a prefix of Mrs. such are understood to be a Miss.

When two numbers are given in connection with one name, and only one street mentioned, the number first given is the place of business, and the second the residence, and both in the same street.

The letter h. signifies house; b. boards; l. lodges or rooms at; st. street; av. avenue; r. rear; u. upper tenement; pl. place; c. corner; ct. court; rd. road; ter. terrace; t. town; v. village; n. near; rm. room; etc.

We have omitted at the end of each line, av. pl. and ct. except in cases where streets and avenues have the same name. Therefore where the residences of individuals are put down as at New Britain, Farmington, Maple, etc., the word avenue is understood to follow. Abbreviations of names of streets, etc., are made as follows:—

GEER'S Hartford City Directory. It has been published annually by Elihu Geer and his sons for 64 years; they have got it down to a fine point: a science. Compared with any other directory in the country, it contains more than 100 pages of valuable information and statistics which no other Directory goes to the expense of publishing.

Appearance goes a good ways: in people, if you don't like their cut you shrug your shoulder; in horses, if you don't like their style you look further; in a house, if you don't like its appearance you won't live in it; and so it goes: everything conducive to success depends upon appearance. The business man must bear this in mind above all. His place of business, his stock in trade, his delivery turnouts, all must attract the eye of the public. Then too, his business stationery should receive his closest attention. It is important that this also should have a fine appearance. There is nothing more suggestive of a cheap house than bad looking stationery. The Hartford Printing Co., 16 State street, are never known to execute printing of bad appearance.

GEER'S Hartford City Directory. It has been published annually by Elihu Geer and his sons for 64 years; they have got it down to a fine point: a science. Compared with any other directory in the country, it contains more than 100 pages of valuable information and statistics which no other Directory goes to the expense of publishing.

Geer's Quarter-Millennial History of Hartford:

SALIENT FACTS, FROM 1635 TO 1887.

Copyrighted in the years 1887 and 1901 by THE HARTFORD PRINTING CO.

HARTFORD is built on strong clay soil; on Connecticut river it is a rich black mold. This Town, with which the City is now coterminous, is five and half miles long by three and half broad, equaling nearly 18 square miles or 11,520 acres. It is located on the west side of Connecticut river, 60 miles from its mouth by river navigation—but by railroad it is only 46 miles—and at the head of steamboat navigation, in north latitude 41 deg. 45 min. 59 sec., and west longitude 72 deg. 40 min. 45 sec., from Greenwich, or 4 deg. 15 min. east from Washington. By the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad it is 110 miles northeast from New York and 124 miles west by southwest from Boston, and 26 miles south of Springfield; by the New York and New England railroad it is 133 miles from New York, 110½ from Fishkill landing on the Hudson river, and 117⅓ miles southwest of Boston, 90 miles west of Providence, and 30½ miles to Springfield by their central branch, which also extends to Athol, Mass.; by the Hartford & Conn. Western railroad it is 110 miles east of Poughkeepsie on the Hudson river, and 118¾ miles from Albany; by the Hartford & Conn. Valley railroad it is 44 miles to Saybrook and 46 to Long Island Sound. The Legislature of the State meets here, every other year, on the Wednesday after the first Monday in January, 1887. The Park river—first called the Little river, subsequently Mill river, but now only known as Park river,—is spanned by eighteen bridges, runs through and near center of the city.

In 1631 Waghinacut, an Indian sachem, in the Connecticut valley, went to the governors of Plymouth and Massachusetts colonies, soliciting them to send settlers into his valley; promising to supply them with corn and a present of eighty beaver skins. Subsequent events showed that he expected that English settlers would protect him from the Pequots—then the most powerful and warlike tribe in New England.

This region became known as early as 1616, to the DUTCH of New Netherlands. The first ENGLISH visitor seems to have been Gov. Edward Winslow of Plymouth colony, who came in 1632, to view the country, with reference to the establishment of a plantation. Soon afterwards a trading company was formed at Plymouth, and in 1633 they built a house in Windsor, near the mouth of Tunxis river,—now called Farmington river,—the first frame house in Connecticut. The DUTCH in 1633, procured from the Pequot sachem of Mystic river, a deed of twenty acres of land in the south meadow of Hartford, on which they built a small fort, as a trading post, but without any purpose of beginning a plantation. Their sole object was trade with the Indians, which was to the extent of over a thousand beaver skins and other furs, annually, loading vessels with furs and other products. They erected a fort they named the House of Hope, "Dutch Point," directly south and opposite to what is now called "Dutch Point," at the confluence of the Park and Connecticut rivers, within the present City of Hartford. They maintained possession of this post and a tract of land adjacent until 1653, when, during the hostilities between the English and the Dutch, it was seized by Capt. John Underhill, "by permission of the General Court" of Connecticut, as belonging to "enemies of the commonwealth of England."

After the first settlement of Plymouth, Mass., in 1620, for the next ten years, very few immigrants arrived in New England. The second settlement was made at Naumkeag, now called Salem, in Mass., in 1628. In 1630 there were accessions of about 1500 immigrants, which immigration has been on an annual increase; in 1882 there were 770,423; since 1882 the average is over 600,000 arriving annually in these United States.

In 1634 and 1635 a few bands of immigrants roved along from Windsor to Wethersfield, which latter then included Rockyhill. They were soon nearly all destroyed or scattered, by various adversities. The immigrants from Newtown settled at Hartford; from Dorchester at Windsor; from Watertown at Wethersfield. The main body of immigrants, however, came across the country to Chicopee, in Springfield, and thence down the river, without any guide, traveling by compass and through a trackless wilderness filled with savages and wild beasts; without bridges, entailing the construction of rafts by felling of trees, o. of swimming the streams, the cutting through thickets and swamps, and toils and dangers that we now cannot comprehend. The journey occupied about two weeks; same distance is now made by the fast express train of cars in about three hours, via Springfield. The first settlers named it Newtown; but Feb. 21st, 1637, was formally named HARTFORD, after Hartford, now called Hertford, county town Hertfordshire, England, and birth place of Rev. Samuel Stone.

The PRESENT LOCALITY of Hartford was called by the Indians, Suckiaug—which means "black earth"—referring to the very rich river meadows.

THE SETTLEMENT OF HARTFORD was begun in 1635, and a plantation was organized early in the spring of 1636. It became permanently established by the arrival, about June 15th, 1836, of nearly 100 men, women and children, as settlers, after about a two weeks' journey through dark and trackless forests, with one hundred and sixty head of cattle; coming from Newtown, now Cambridge, in the state of Massachusetts, with their ministers, THOMAS HOOKER and SAMUEL STONE. HOOKER was a celebrated preacher in the established church of England in 1629, and won in Hartford "the reputation of a most eloquent preacher, a wise counsellor, a discerning and far-sighted statesman, a most beloved saint." Many of these settlers had emigrated from the county of Essex, England. Here they founded "a church without a bishop, a state without a king."

The FIRST TOWN MEETING was in 1635, the year of settlement, and the first Court was held April 26, 1636.

A DEED OF THE LAND of the new settlement in 1636, from Sunckquassen or Sequassen, sachem of the Suckiaug tribe was received by Samuel Stone and Wm. Goodwin. This deed was lost, and the settlers repurchased the land of the Indians in 1670, taking a NEW DEED for certainty's sake. These settlers for many years were obliged to live on scanty fare. Those who spent the first winter in Hartford, Windsor and Wethersfield, had only miserable huts such as woodchoppers and coal pit burners erect for their temporary use. This year Surveyors of Highways were appointed.

The FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST IN HARTFORD—now often called Center Congregational—was organized in Cambridge, Mass., in 1633. The members of this Church celebrated by interesting reminiscences and meetings Oct. 11-12, 1883, their Quarter-Millenial existence as a church, that emigrated in a body to this plantation in 1636, with its pastor, teacher, and ruling elder, Hooker, Stone and Goodwin. Its first house of worship was near the southeastern side of City Hall square. It was built in 1638. In 1640 a bell was elevated thereon, and Thomas Woodford, inducted as Hartford's first Bellringer and Sexton of church and burying ground. Fees for graves four feet deep, two shillings and sixpence; five feet deep, three shillings; and deceased over ten years, six feet deep, three shillings and sixpence. It was ordered clapboarded Oct. 20, 1640; and by another vote, Feb. 8, 1650, "it was ordered that the old meeting-house (a temporary structure) shall be given to Mr. Hooker," who moved it and used it as his barn. This was a square building, probably framed, and with a thatched roof. It was pulled down Aug. 6, 1737, after 99 years service. The dedication of their second edifice, which was of wood, on site of present one, was Dec. 18, 1739; which in turn was pulled down and their third or present edifice was consecrated Dec. 3, 1807, which was enlarged and remodeled in 1852; and further modernized and improved, and a third new organ introduced at the celebration of the 250th anniversary of this church, Oct. 11, 12, 1883. See page 514.

The FIRST GENERAL COURT of these three towns was held at Hartford, April 26, 1636. Its meetings, now known as the CONNECTICUT LEGISLATURE, were held in the 2d story called the Court Chamber, of the old meetinghouse which stood on the east end of City Hall square.

The FIRST WAR was the PEQUOT WAR, in May, 1637. Hartford contributed forty-two out of ninety men, including commander and chaplain; besides a large share of the provisions, etc., for said war. On Wednesday, May 10th, 1637, the Connecticut colonial army of 160 men—90 Colonists and 70 Mohegan Indians—which was raised to punish the Pequots, set sail from HARTFORD for the mouth of Connecticut river, in "a pink, pinnace and a shallop." History informs us that the water was so shallow at this season of the year that the vessels several times ran aground in dropping down the river—taking five days to sail the 60 miles; now by the Hartford and Conn. Valley Railroad express cars, the same trip occupies only one hour and twenty-five minutes. HARTFORD responded to subsequent Indian contests, promptly, and with always more than her quota; also in the revolution of 1776; also in defence of our present form of U. S. government in 1861-1865.

Feb. 21st, 1638, COMMISSIONERS from these first three settlements held a COURT (now called Legislature) at Hartford, and changed the then names of settlements to Hartford, Wethersfield and Windsor townships.

April 5, 1638, there was ordered to be made a public highway for cart and horse, between Hartford and Windsor, with bridges over the swamps. And the same year John Talcott, William Wadsworth and Samuel Wakeman were first elected TOWNSMEN, which officers, from a few years subsequently, have been called SELECTMEN. These Townsmen were also Treasurers until Feb. 14th, 1659.

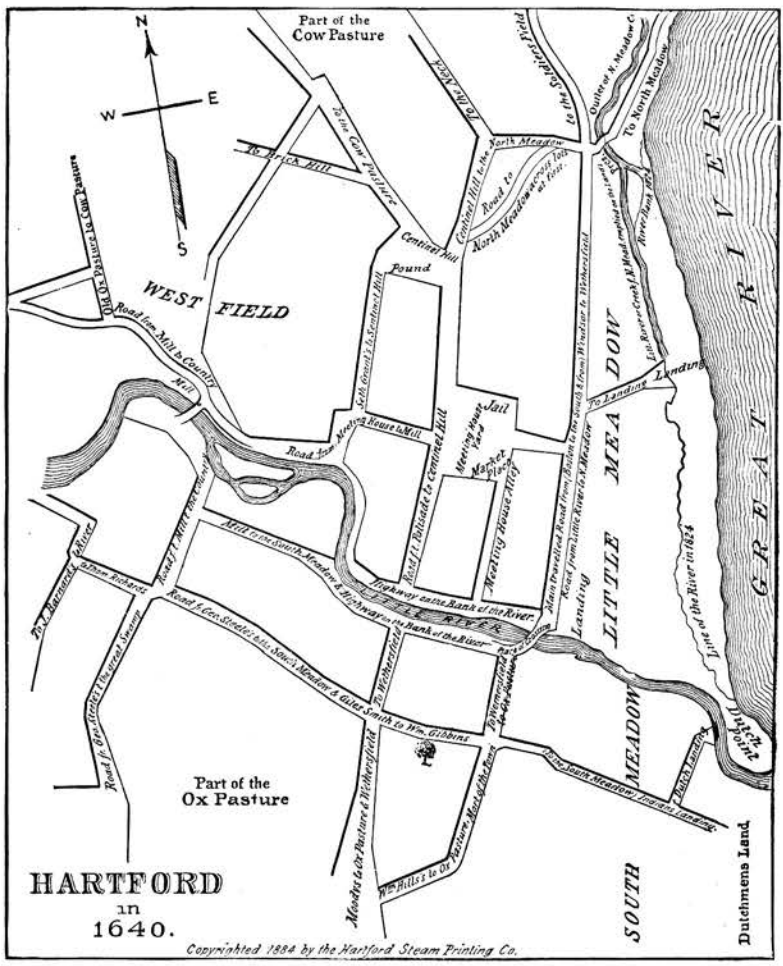

May 31, 1638, the Rev. Thomas Hooker, in a public discourse, enunciated in contradistinction to the then received divine right of kings to rule peoples, what has become the key-note to all republican government:—"That the choice of public magistrates belongs unto the people by God's own allowance. That they who have the power to appoint officers and magistrates, that it is in their power, also, to set the bounds and limitations of the power and place to which they call them." And the SUPREME COURT OF THESE UNITED STATES promulgated in Feb. 1884, in a case tried by them, the key-stone to republicanism, "that a corporation under state law is a creature of the state and its legislature, and that the relations may be modified from time to time, as the legislature sees fit." This division also accords with the Almighty's decrees—that the created is not superior and above the creator. Here the first public and original municipality was the town organization; wielding all political power before any kingly authority; demonstrating that law is liberty; and the town meeting the home parliament of the governed and the citizen, which has proved for over two hundred years, to be the nursery and normal school of the politician. From the earliest colonial meeting, none but "inhabitants," who were admitted and approved as such, by action of the town in which they were residing, could vote or participate in town or other meetings—mere residence did not make "inhabitants"—did not give such privilege.

June 1, 1638, between 3 and 4 o'clock P.M. there was a great earthquake throughout New England; the shock and tremor lasted about four minutes; throwing down utensils in houses and throwing off tops of chimneys. Its course was from west to east. The earth was unquiet for twenty days.

The date or compact of the CONSTITUTION OF THE COLONY OF CONNECTICUT, commenced the year on the 25th of March, and this was evidently in 1639, for as appears by the record the December preceding was 1638, and the April following, 1639.

In the year 1638, Roger Ludlow, John Haynes, Henry Wolcott, Edward Hopkins and Thomas Hooker, began and set about forming a WRITTEN CONSTITUTION which was finished in 1639; the first ever formed in America, and which embodies the main points of all our subsequent State constitutions and of the Federal constitution; so that Connecticut may claim to have been the model for our whole republic. It was adopted by the Connecticut planters at Hartford, Jan. 14, 1639,—Roger Ludlow was its reputed author—the preamble thereto announced that, "under Almighty God" the inhabitants and residents of Windsor, Hartford and Wethersfield upon the river Connecticut, finding themselves without the limits of the Massachusetts patent, conceived the plan to "associate and conjoin themselves to be as one public state or commonwealth," and provided for the election of a governor and magistrates by the whole body of freemen. The charter of 1662 made like provisions, and the constitution of 1818 is our third constitution—no governor whose authority was derived from a king, ever reigned over this State—and no laws were ever submitted to any king for his sanction—the people always ruled. From the earliest colonial meeting, for many years, none but "inhabitants," who were admitted and approved as such, by action of the town in which they were residing, could vote or participate in any state, town, school, city or religious society meetings or elections.

Jan. 14th, 1639, COMMISSIONERS from these three settlements met again as a COURT at Hartford, and finding themselves outside of the jurisdiction of the Massachusetts colony, framed an untried and NEW CONSTITUTION and civil form of government, under the name of STATE OF CONNECTICUT. And in April following they chose their first Governor, John Haynes, and five magistrates or counsellors, and they held the FIRST COURT that met as a GENERAL ASSEMBLY, which incorporated the first three towns. Thus these three towns became an original body politic—constituting the ORIGINAL GOVERNMENT OF CONNECTICUT—and from which all of this State has derived its existence—and these United States its form of government—no king, no congress, no legislature presiding at its conception, or at its birth—these three and free towns being the origin or seminality of this State, as the thirteen free States subsequently have grown and formed the United States Nation;—all local rights and powers of the towns having been reserved, in this State to this day, except as delegated. This was "the first written constitution in the history of nations."

A CLASSICAL SCHOOL was in operation here as early as 1638; and in 1643, sixteen pounds a year were voted to the teacher. The first legacy for educational purposes was by Wm Gibbons, in 1655, of 30 acres of land "towards the maintenance of a Latin School in Hartford" —the Hartford Grammar School. About 1650 three grandsons of Gov. Winthrop of Mass., and in 1767 several boys from the Barbadoes, where our merchants then dealt extensively, were sent to this school. In 1657, Gov. Hopkins left about £1,000, part of which endowed the HARTFORD GRAMMAR SCHOOL, now called the classical department of the Hartford Public High School. This is the oldest continuous educational institution in these United States, except Harvard College, and is cotemporary with that, which also dates from 1638, but was not chartered until 1650. In the City of New York, on 29th st. near 7th av. is a sign "School of the Collegiate Ref. Prot. Dutch of the City of New York. Founded A. D. 1633. Erected A. D. 1860." When this school was founded, New York was known as New Amsterdam. It was closed from 1776 to 1783 while New York was held by the British troops. The English language was not taught until 1783 and then only subsidiary to the Dutch. The University of Penn., the outcome of the College of Penn. founded chiefly by Benj. Franklin and Wm. Smith, its first Provost, is probably the next oldest educational institution in this country.

Jan. 7, 1639,—"It is ordered that whosoever borrows the town chain shall pay two pence a day for every day they keep the same, and pay for the mending it, if it be broken in their use."

These towns made their own government by right of purchase and conquest from the Indians, and made use of the charter of 1662 to complete the possession of its then boundaries, still continuing their original form of government and handing the same down unimpaired to their descendants. No royal veto was ever attempted to be exercised over the acts passed by the legislature of this State or colony, as was over every other colony and State in America, or the least interference with the chartered rights of this State, until Oct. 1687, and which was frustrated—see table of contents under the head of Charter Oak tree. This charter embodied the key-note of the United States revolution in 1775. But Connecticut under her charter of 1662 always contributed her share of soldiers and their support, in all wars whether at her own fireside, as a separate colony, or those of the mother country, and thus Connecticut has continued to do, as a state of these United States. This wonderful document expressed no allegiance to the British crown, but lodged all the supreme political power in the General Court—now called Legislature—and the oaths required by the Court were of allegiance to THE STATE.

The first town organization admitted "inhabitants," and even temporary residents, only by vote of town meeting—all town meetings every inhabitant was by law compelled to attend and stay until it adjourned or he was fined! A good law that should be re-enacted and enforced. The OFFICERS were "townsmen," who answered to the present selectmen, but with more extensive authority; a town court, constable, town clerk, crier, fence viewers, chimney viewers, and highway surveyors; and a little after were added grand jurors and a jailor. There was a public market semi-weekly, and a public fair twice a year.

Hartford originally contained also all the TERRITORY now known as the towns of West Hartford, East Hartford and Manchester. In 1784, East Hartford, including most of the town of Manchester, was set off from Hartford; Manchester subsequently being made a town in 1823; West Hartford was set off in the year 1854. If our territory had not been thus reduced (which has not been done to New Haven, but additions of territory have been made to that town at several times,) the population of Hartford by the 1880 census would have been 54,343.

In June 1639, a Dutch officer visiting the Dutch fort, then here, wrote home that the English settlers had a fine church and more than a hundred houses, and that the Dutch had fourteen to fifteen soldiers to man their fort. He complained that the English here had given their soldiers a drubbing, which our forefathers justified, by showing that the Dutch were the aggressors.

In 1639 a Recorder—now Town Clerk—was first appointed and the first book entry made of town business, also, first official appointment of a chimney sweeper.

In 1640, the town voted that two shillings per load should be paid for each load of earth taken from Sentinel hill—the highest point of land in the settlement—then some fifteen feet higher than at present, lying southeast from junction of Main with Trumbull sts.

In 1640 a HOUSE OF CORRECTION was in operation.

Their PUBLIC SCHOOL'S first record was December 6, 1642, when £60 was voted to it by the town. In 1643, the next school vote was—Mr. Andrews chosen to teach the children in the school one year next ensuing from the 25th of March, 1643, and that he shall have £16 for his pains.

Dec. 12, 1642, capital offences were reduced to twelve, by this colony. These forefathers had fled from England where there were 160 acts of man made punishable by death! But now we are constantly nullifying most all penal, as well as all sanguinary enactments, from the inefficient enforcement of all laws!

In 1643 the HARTFORD PUBLIC MARKET was established by law, and Wednesday was the market day for all manner of commodities that might be brought in for sale. And up to June 4, 1829, the public market building, which the town voted Jan. 12, 1811, but which was erected by private subscription, stood about thirty feet in front of Nos. 17–25 Central row, extending easterly to Prospect street, when the city opened what is now called the Old City Hall, on Market st., that the city built at an expense of $25,000. On and around the present City Hall square—then called meeting house yard, subsequently for a century and a half, state house square—our forefathers had their meeting house, their public market, the stocks, the pillory, the whipping post the jail, and in rear of building, 12 State st., opposite to northwest corner of this yard, was the slave pen.

An INN was ordered by the General Court, and established in 1644, nearly opposite the Center church.

In 1645 semi-annual FAIRS were instituted by law, eventuating in chartering the Hartford County Agricultural Society at October session, 1817, "for the improvement of agriculture and rural economy."

In 1648 the Town voted £40 for a new School house, and individuals were requested to add to this sum.

The FIRST COLONY emigrated from Hartford in 1645, and also founded Farmington. Others succeeded; one founded Middletown in 1650: another founded Norwalk in the same year; and a third founded Hadley, in 1659. In 1720 a large colony from Hartford and Windsor, moved to and founded Litchfield. Hartford has sent out innumerable delegations, and single emigrants, ever since, to all parts of the world. The U. S. census of 1880 shows that there are in the City of New York, 8,726 persons who were born in Connecticut; 20,174 in Massachusetts; 7,555 in Rhode Island; 5,984 in New Jersey, which latter state invited and received several families from Connecticut as early as 1666 at Newark; even little Delaware has 210 Connecticut born persons.

In 1647, an epidemical sickness prevailed throughout New England, (we find no record of it as "malaria,") which also carried off July 7th, the Rev. Thos. Hooker, aged 61; of whom Gov. Winthrop wrote "who for piety, prudence, wisdom, zeal, learning and what else might make him serviceable in the place and time he lived in, might be compared with men of greatest note."

In 1650, our FIRST MISSION was organized, by order of the General Court; which directed a teaching elder and an interpreter to go among the Indians twice a year to endeavor to convert them.

In 1650, also, our FIRST CODE OF LAWS was drawn up, chiefly by Roger Ludlow; which reduced the number of capital offences from 160 of England, to twelve.

Jan. 12, 1652, a levy was voted of £40 on the town to build a school house.

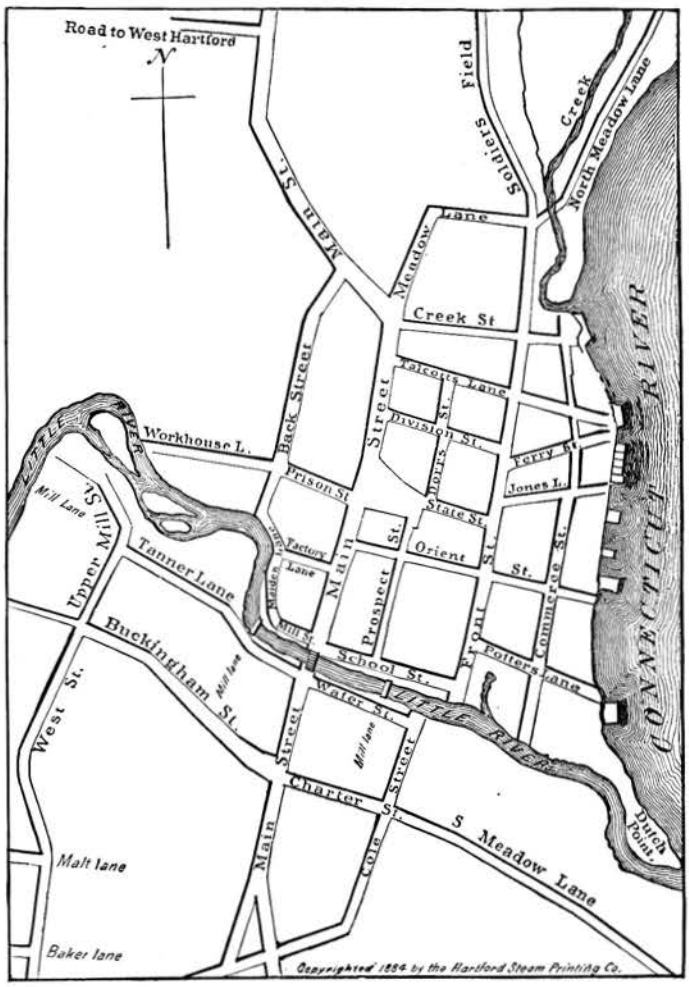

In 1652 the taxable property in Hartford was £19,733 18 shillings; in Windsor, £14,093; in Wethersfield, £11,499; in Farmington, £5,164.

April 6, 1654, the General Court of Connecticut sequestered the Dutch fort with all its lands, buildings and fences—and down the river sailed the Dutch homeward.

In March, 1657, there began a SCHISM IN THE FIRST CHURCH IN HARTFORD, that extended throughout New England and continued over 150 years; which Councils, Synods and Civil Courts could not heal but did occasionally smother. It was not a question of Christian faith or Christian morals, but of discipline and piety. In those days civil and social privileges usually emanated from membership in the churches. This was true in all New England, excepting in Connecticut; but even here such membership constituted a precedence over others. Then Church and State were interwoven, in the minds of the earlier settlers, from all their former experience. A large party in the First Church arose who attached a superstitious importance to the outward administration of baptism, and they also desired for themselves and their children the social and civil privileges of a church standing. After a long struggle, there was accorded, what became known as the half-way covenant, and thus were admitted to baptismal privileges, confessedly unregenerate persons, who outwardly conformed with the then standards of good morals, they covenanting to use proper diligence in qualifying themselves to come subsequently to the Lord's table.

In these early days, preaching and meeting houses being supported by a tax on all persons, men and women were seated on opposite sides of the house, according to social rank, age or office,—children by themselves, with tything men to keep them in respectful submission. Here was a delicate task for the officials in charge of "seating the meeting house." Sermons in forenoon and afternoon an hour and upwards in delivery. Until 1818, all citizens, by law, had to attend worship, and all were taxed to support the same; but Great Britain, Germany and most other countries have not followed our example of 66 years ago.

March, 1658, the General Court in Hartford, named "the settlements on river Monhegin in the Pequot country, NEW LONDON, in memory of the CITY OF LONDON."

HARTFORD IN 1790.

Feb. 14,1659, John Talcott was chosen as the first "Husband for the Town"—to take care of town money and all town property. In 1706, title changed to Treasurer. Previous to 1659, the townsmen had the custody of and paying out all town moneys.

Oct. 1659, the LEVY on property in Hartford was on £21,128; in Windsor, £15,345; in Wethersfield, £12,103.

In 1661 in the town meeting, it was voted, that the Jews then in this town have liberty to reside here seven months.

In Dec. 31, 1665, was held by appointment the FIRST THANKSGIVING, "for God's blessings in fruits of ye earth," etc.

In 1665, Hartford and New Haven colonies united.

May 10, 1666, COUNTY OF HARTFORD was established at the May session by act of the General Assembly. This was the first formation of Counties in this State. For the date of enactment, of each County and the date of settlement or division of Towns, see table of contents. All legislation was the first years done by decrees of what they then called Courts. But the Hartford court, was called a COUNTY COURT by the General Assembly, in Oct. 1665.

At the October session in 1672, it was voted that every family in the colony be compelled to buy a book of the laws, and pay therefor twelve pence in silver, or one and a half pecks wheat—town constables to collect same. Now the state furnishes laws of each session, to all who call for same, on Town Clerks.

May 9th, 1678, the General Assembly "requested the Hon. Governor that he be pleased to take his habitation in Hartford, to attend to the duties of governor at a salary of £100 per annum." This salary has been increased, till in 1885, it became $4,000 per annum. In 1678 there were 298 slaves in the colony, entailed on the colony by British example. Vagabonds or tramps and thieves were not allowed in the colony—our forefathers would not then house and feed them in $175,000 jails or $200,000 state prisons.

In 1684 there were 250 taxable persons in Hartford rated all told, £16,730; Windsor 240 persons, £14,045; Wethersfield 204 persons, £12,715.

In 1687, the independent spirit of the colony was shown by the quiet but determined resistance made in the council held with Sir Edmund Andros, by the court or legislature of this State, Nov. 1 and 2, 1677, in the court house in his ATTEMPT TO TAKE AWAY THE CHARTER of 1662. See table of contents for full particulars.

In August and September, 1689, there was an unusual mortality in all Connecticut towns, from an epidemic sore throat and fever, (diphtheria?) during the great drought of the spring and summer of that year, visiting most of the families, and was pronounced by the then living persons as "the like not having been known in the memory of man."

Oct. 13, 1698, ordered by the Court, "that for the future, this General Assembly shall consist of two houses, viz:—upper house, the council (that afterwards became the Senate) and the lower house (now called House of Representatives) of the General Assembly.

Oct. 9, 1701, each of the then four counties ordered to build a gaol in each of their respective counties.

April 8, 1704, Hartford town voted to fortify forthwith, four houses on west side and four on east side of the great (now called Connecticut) river, against attacks from Indians.

In 1708 the Congregational churches of this State formed and consociated under the Saybrook platform.

In 1709, May session in the English and French war, the first paper money was issued by this State, in furnishing her quota of troops.

In May, 1719, Rev. Timothy Woodbridge, pastor of 1st church and Rev. Thomas Buckingham, pastor of 2d church in Hartford, were elected Representatives from Hartford to the Legislature, probably because they had stoutly resisted the removal of the collegiate school from Saybrook, (that has become Yale College,) to New Haven, instead of to Wethersfield or Hartford.

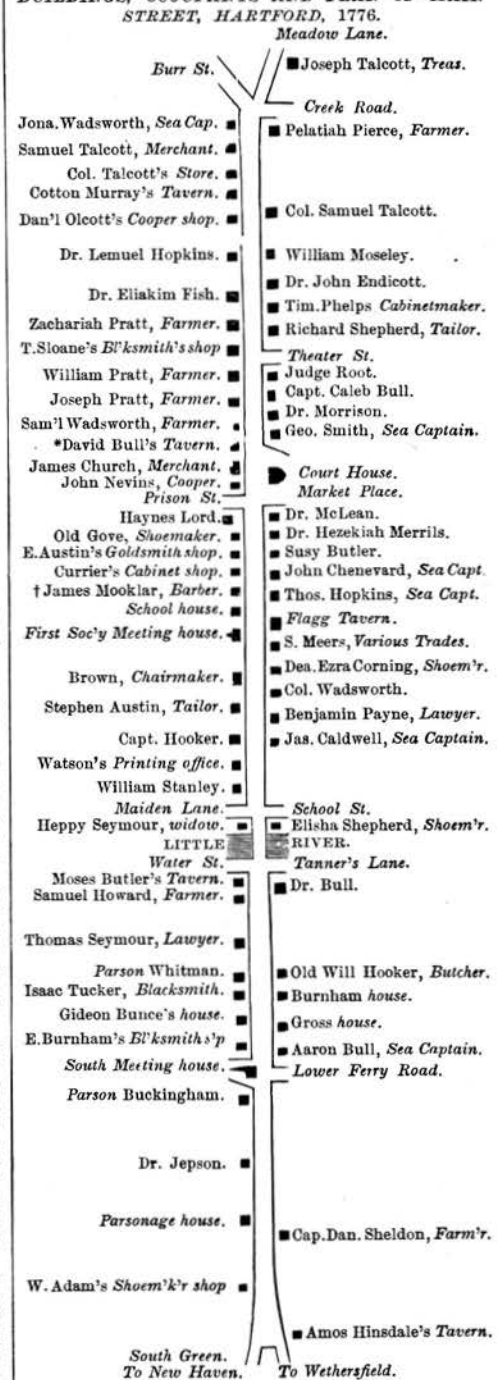

In 1719 a WOODEN STRUCTURE of two stories was erected in front of where the first meetinghouse stood, and was occupied in May, 1720, which cost, with its furniture, £750. It was moved to Church st. west of where is now Christ church edifice,and used many years. for different purposes. This FIRST STATE HOUSE was succeeded by the SECOND STATE HOUSE, now City Hall, 300 Main st. and in front of Post Office building—first story of freestone, the other two of brick, was first passed by the Legislature in May, 1792—its erection commenced in 1794, first occupied in 1796, costing $52,480, of which Hartford gave $3,500 and the County, $1,500. This house was vacated by most of the State offices therein, Oct. 26, 1878, and the possession thereof was formally turned over by the State to the City of Hartford, March 13, 1879, and formally re-dedicated as City Hall, Oct. 22, 1879. For engravings and descriptions of ALL old Connecticut Capitols or State Houses, see pages 510–511 of this Hartford City Directory for 1884. The THIRD STATE HOUSE in this City was begun in 1873, and first occupied by the Legislature, March 26, 1878, but the state offices were not moved thither until October 26th, 1878. For particulars and engraving see pages 512–514 of July, 1884, of this book.

In 1756 a State census gave Hartford a population of 3,027, (which included all the 1884 territory of Hartford, West Hartford, East Hartford and Manchester.) If the original territory of Hartford had been kept intact, our 1880 census would have been 54,341. The territory of New Haven is larger than these four towns. And the following are some of the towns that at that time had larger populations, viz:—Norwich, 5,540; Middletown, 5,463; New Haven, 5,085; Windsor, 4,250; Farmington, 3,707; Wallingford, 3,713; New London, 3,171; Stonington, 3,515; Fairfield, 4,455; Norwalk, 3,050; Stratford, 3,658; Lebanon, 3,274.

In 1760 Hartford petitioned for a lottery to raise £300 in order to repair Main street, because it was probably the worst road in the colony and suggested that members of the legislature riding into town, help to cut it up and they ought fairly to grant a way to repair it!

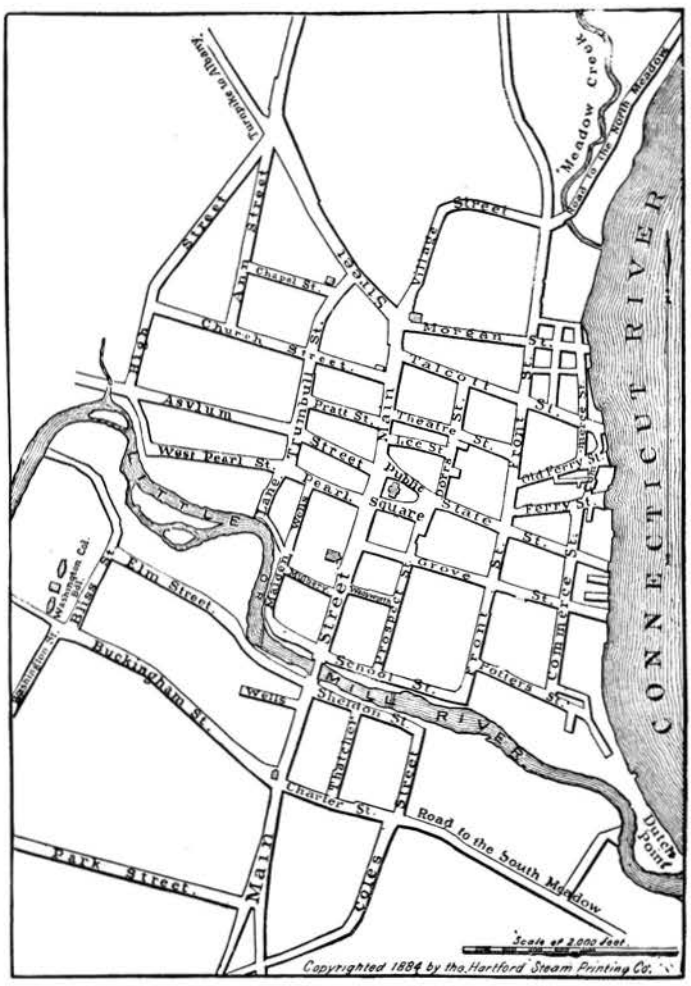

In 1775, a small committee of enterprising men met here and made those arrangements for raising men and money, which resulted in the TAKING OF TICONDEROGA by Ethan Allen "in the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress."

*This was the most noted Tavern in Hartford, and was called the "Bunch of Grapes Tavern."

†The first Printing Office in Hartford, was in a chamber over his shop.

HARTFORD IN 1824.

NOAH WEBSTER was born in Hartford in year 1758. About 1790 his father sold the farm to the ancestors of present occupants, who have the deed so signed by him. In 1783 he prepared and published, in his then residence, on the northwest corner of Main and Mulberry streets, which house was enlarged to its present size in 1841, the "Elementary Spelling Book." It was printed by Hudson & Goodwin, the Courant printers, whose office was then where now stands Nos. 220 and 222 Main st. Of this book one million copies were sold annually for 40 years—in 1863 one and one-half million—in 1879 to 1885 an annual sale of about 1,300,000 copies. This was followed by his Compendious Dictionary in 1806; which was a mere prelude to his famous "Unabridged Dictionary," first published about 1829; the last page of the copy he prepared when 66 years of age. He finished a revised edition in 1840. He died at New Haven in 1843, aged 85 years. On page 482 of our 1884 Directory will be found that his father was a Selectman of this town, 1767—1770 and 1773; he died, and his farm of 12 acres was sold in this town for £350. also on page 487 that the author of Webster's Dictionary, in 1792 and 1793 was a Councilman of this city; Afterwards he moved to New York and opened a book store. These books became the grand starting points in our language, and have been continually added to in that splendid "unabridged" book of 1886, by its present publishers.

Mar. 27, 1783, news was received in Hartford that the treaty of GENERAL PEACE between the United States and Great Britain had been signed at Versailles, France. On the 20th January following it was celebrated in this city by ringing of all the church bells, the firing of cannons, and in the evening by fireworks and general illumination. Hostilities ceased Oct. 19, 1781. Articles of peace signed Nov. 30, 1782. But the official proclamation of peace was not made to the American army, until April 19th, 1783, precisely eight years from the memorable battle at Lexington, when the first blood was shed by the British troops. Treaty was ratified by United States Senate, August 14, 1795.

May 4, 1778, was the first theatrical performance in this city, followed by occasional strolling actors, until Aug. 3, 1795, when a regular theater was opened in Theatre street, where now is 24 Temple street, but it was of few years duration.

Feb. 21, 1785, the city adopted a city seal, and changed the same to the present city seal, April 19, 1852.

Sept. 20th, 1780, Gen. GEORGE WASHINGTON, (inaugurated, April 30th, 1789 as the first President of these United States of America, in Federal hall, at New York, where the delegates from the eleven States which had then ratified the constitution, and had there assembled March 4th, 1789, under said constitution, as the First Congress,) arrived in Hartford, accompanied by Generals Lafayette, Knox and Hamilton. They were received with all military honors. Gov. Jonathan Trumbull, Col. Jeremiah Wadsworth and other distinguished citizens accompanied them to the house of Col. Wadsworth, that stood where is now the Wadsworth Atheneum; which house was moved July, 1842, to 21–25 Buckingham st.; and in April, 1887, it was torn down, to be replaced by a modern brick dwelling house. The French Gen. Count de Rochambeau and the French Admiral the Chevalier de Fernay, with their suites arrived soon afterwards, and were received with honors at landing; and in front of the old State House, now City hall, Gen. George Washington first grasped the hand of Rochambeau, who was to share with him a few years later, in the plans and movements which compelled the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. This consultation or anxious conference was held at house of Col. Wadsworth for a day, and then the officers separated to their respective allotted duties. Gen. WASHINGTON held another consultation in this city May 23, 1781. He also visited this city June 30, 1775, on his way to Charlestown.

May 29, 1784, one-sixth part of the territory of Hartford, then having less than 5000 population, was incorporated as a city. The charter provided for mayor and other officers, with four aldermen and twenty councilmen. The first city election was on June 4th, 1784. The officers then elected met July 13th, at 9 o'clock A. M. for the first time. The mayors were appointed by the General Assembly, until 1825. Up to this time, from 1640, few new roads or streets were opened in this town, nor for many years after the city was incorporated—190 years from its settlement—since then, there have been over 300 streets, opened in this city.

July 20, 1784, this city passed a law "that no person shall hereafter transport out of this city either by land or by water, any pot or pearl ashes, hops, staves, headings, shaken cash, planks, boards, clapboards, shingles, scantling, beef, pork, flour, fish, tobacco, flax seed, rye, wheat and indian corn, under fine of ten pounds and the price allowed for each article.

May 19, 1788, was the DARK DAY in New England, in which candles were lighted during a midday session of the Connecticut Legislature, in this city.

In 1790 was begun the "stoning of Main st." by a tax of four pence on a pound. The first map of this city —see page 451 for a copy thereof—was made by order of its council. Also, foot walks on sides of the streets.

In 1792 was the first CHARTERED TURNPIKE in this State, between Norwich and New London; followed soon after by several from Hartford. Toll gates for animals and vehicles about every ten miles, wherever commissioners located them:—25 cents at each gate for stage coach or carriage; 6¼ cents for one horse wagons, etc. In 1839 there were 121 turnpike roads. As great a mania existed for turnpikes, from 1810 to 1830, as now exists for railroads. They were expected to transform all waste places into villages, villages into cities, and cities into kingdoms.

In 1799 an AQUEDUCT COMPANY laid wooden pipes from a spring near the present Hartford Orphan Asylum to supply Main street houses with water, which logs are now occasionally unearthed in digging for laying iron pipes for water, etc. Surveys for the present water works were commenced Oct. 1853; ground broke 1854; first pumping of water, Oct. 23, 1855.

April 21, 1795, a committee was appointed to see about building a market—repealed the May following.

In 1800 the PRINCIPAL BUILDINGS in this city were, a State house, two Congregational, one Baptist and one Episcopal Church edifices; one Theater; a Jail; and about 500 dwelling houses—many built of brick.

In 1801 with the departure of the Elder Adams, from the Presidency of the United States, in his powder and queues, cocked hat, white top boots, breeches, knee buckles, long silk stockings, shoe buckles, that fashion of dress also departed, and with President Jefferson, entered into fashion, his style of stiff round hat, narrow brim, short hair, pantaloons, leather shoe strings, etc.

In 1803 there were sanitary by-laws passed on account of yellow fever cases in New York, New Haven, New London and other near cities. The amount of exports that year, from this State in live stock and farmer's produce amounted to $1,148,357.

In 1806, and prior thereto, the results of the annual state elections in this state were not known in this city until after two weeks waiting; now, with many telegraph and telephone lines, and improved systems of gathering news, enough returns are usually received in this city, to indicate the result of any state election, in two hours after the polls are closed.

In 1810 Dr. Timothy Dwight, of Yale College, New Haven, writes in a volume that he published: "The houses in Hartford, taken together, are better built than those in New Haven. Most of them, indeed, are old and decayed; but many more, also, are of brick handsomely built in the most modern style, and almost universal of three stories. The inhabitants of Hartford are the only people in Connecticut who have had sufficient wisdom and self government to forbid by a public vote the erection of wooden houses within the compact part of their city, and to adhere, without murmuring, to their first vote on this subject. Posterity will have reason to remember this measure with gratitude. The morals and intelligence of Hartford are probably little, if at all, inferior to those of any other town of the same size; and the best and largest class of its inhabitants are as respectable as any other equal collection in the State." This early vote against the erection of wooden buildings in this city, has undoubtedly been the principal factor in preventing extensive conflagrations, many times, in this city.

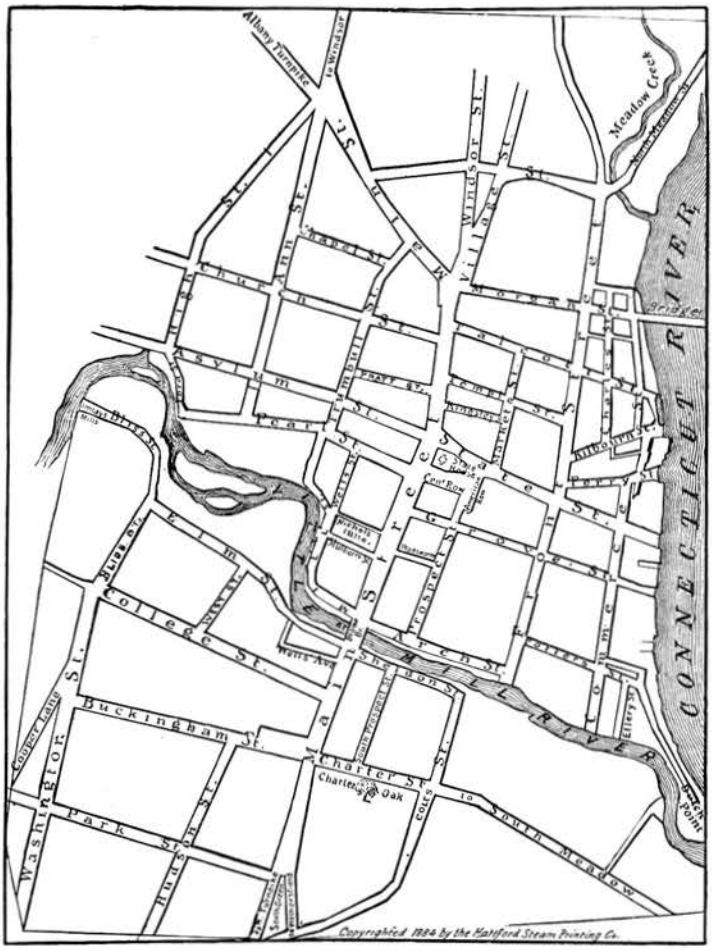

In 1813 the attention of the City council was given principally to laying out sidewalks and effecting drainage in the city.

December 15, 1814, the HARTFORD CONVENTION, composed of seven Delegates from Connecticut, four from Rhode Island, twelve from Massachusetts, two from New Hampshire and one from Vermont, met in the Alderman's chamber of the present City hall. New England was then exclusively an agricultural and commercial section of this country. An embargo laid by Congress on their shipping, thus suddenly destroying their property, eventuated in the calling of this convention. The doings of the convention were private and amounted to nothing being recommended or done. The political elements stirred up thereby, culminated in a riot, by which a few houses were damaged. The City Council offered a liberal reward for detection of the rioters—no arrests were made.

Previous to 1815—the year of introduction of wood stoves into city churches—the CHURCHES OF CONNECTICUT, with two long services on Sundays, had no means of warming their worshipers, except foot stoves, which were brought from their respective houses, filled with hot wood embers and at intermission, at noon, were refilled at houses near by the churches; later by coal stoves; and about 1820, furnaces were introduced. It was several years after this, before even stoves were put in country meeting houses.

March, 1815, the town voted an assessment to defray expense of a CITY WATCH; which has grown with the growth of the city, into our present POLICE force.

May 18, 1818, the bridges over the Connecticut and little rivers carried off by high freshet. First Co. of Governor's Foot Guards escorted the Governor to Center church to hear the annual sermon—snow on ground a foot deep.

HARTFORD IN 1838.

In 1817, JAMES MONROE, then President of the United States, was entertained in this city with suitable honors.

In 1820 there were thirty-eight streets in the city. The wholesale business of this city centered in Commerce and Ferry streets, extending gradually into State; and dry goods on Main street near City Hall square. The great quantities of produce, cattle and horses raised by the farmers in this and surrounding towns and counties, and the constant increase in manufacturing on neighboring mill privileges, made business generally lively in this city. The residences of nearly all the merchants were on Morgan, Front, Temple, State and Grove streets. Merchandise and produce was moved principally in brigs, schooners and sloops, that we have often seen lying in tiers two to four deep at the wharves, for a turn to unload and load. But the present age of steamboats, tow barges, and railroads are moving to and from this city more than tenfold the amount of general merchandise that was at this period. The large trade of this city with the West Indies, which our first settlers began, continued to make lively times at our wharves. The captains of these West India vessels were a clever set of men, who took delight in lending their yawl boats to the boys of those days and seeing them row races with them on the river; a very different craft to row, in comparison with those of the present boat clubs. The store-houses were on Commerce st. and above Morgan st., and the West India vessels often unloaded at wharves then above the bridge. The trucks of those days were two long planks, on two wheels, with horses, tandem, especially contrived for easily handling of hogsheads of molasses, liquors, and other goods. Ferry street was at that time called one of the busiest streets in the city; Burr's printing office was on this street. The retail traders were on Ferry and Main streets. Posts for hitching and troughs for feeding horses were plentiful on outer side of the walks, for the great number of customers who came in their own wagons to trade. The competition for the country trade, from the many manufacturing villages and from farmers, between the merchants located on Connecticut river streets and near Main st. bridge and on Burr st. (now 490—700 Main st.,) was as strong as now exists anywhere. Where the best and cheapest West India rum could be found, usually won. Many four and six horse teams were daily bringing in and carrying out loads of merchandise to neighboring towns, as well as vessels and scows up and down the river.

In 1818 this CITY had 850 dwelling houses, 4 houses for public worship, 12 schools, 9 printing offices, 21 taverns, 14 shipping houses, 18 beer houses, 5 wholesale dry goods houses, 26 retail dry goods stores, 22 attorneys, 12 physicians, 3 lottery offices, and a numerous list of miscellaneous dealers. At that time there were only 24 streets—now there are upwards of 300 streets. The combined weekly circulation of the six weekly papers then published here was about equal to the daily circulation of either one of the four daily papers now published in this city, but their combined weekly circulation was not equal to the one of these present dailies, that has the largest circulation. The circulation of all these six papers aggregated about 6,000 copies weekly, and the present daily, weekly and monthly papers of this city now circulate upwards of 300,000 copies at each issue.

In 1822, a great religious excitement prevailed in the 2d or South Church of this city, by an attempt made by a large number of its members to get control of the bequeathed funds of the church, and to have the pulpit supplied, part of each Sabbath, by a Universalist preacher. It eventuated by about 60 members signing off to the Universalist Society, who were then "building a splendid church south of the State House"—which edifice was re-modeled in 1860 into the "Marble block."

In 1824, a riot began on corner Front and Talcott sts., from blackguardism between boys and colored persons, several of whom were severely injured by stones, that eventuated in the pulling down of several small houses in the 6th Ward, and the calling out of the military.

Sept. 4th, 1824, Marquis de LAFAYETTE, the French general, who assisted this country in our revolution, was received by the citizens of Hartford this day as their guest, with every demonstration of marked respect that was possible. For a re-print of a full report thereof, see Geer's Directory, July, 1876, pp. 324–326.

Oct. 5, 1824, the council voted to nail up the names of the streets, on the corner buildings.

June 30, 1825, there was a strike in this city by the journeymen tailors and shoemakers. Two steamboats were then running between this city and New York.

In 1825 there were 17 firms or dealers in West India goods and groceries in Ferry st. and 19 on Commerce st. between Ferry and Morgan, besides many other firms in other kinds of business. One of these firm's signs was Chaffee, Indicott & Pomroy, which was read by a countryman, while sauntering along, as "Coffee, Indigo & Pomatum"—the two latter articles being then in universal use. See a re-print of "Pocket Register of the City of Hartford in 1825" in Geer's Hartford City Directory for 1876, pp. 313–327. Many of these stores were torn down to make room for the H. & C. Valley Railroad tracks. This year, stoves and the burning of coal, began to be used freely.

In 1829 the evils attending Lotteries had become so flagrant, that the Legislature forbade the further sale of tickets, and repealed the then existing Lottery charters.

Up to about 1830 the old Puritan sabbath was faithfully observed by the general closing up of all business at sundown on Saturday, and at sundown on Sunday the week's follies and business were resumed. Theatres had thus far been kept down by a general public sentiment. There was a museum in the brick building which then stood on Central row, corner Main st., and its musical organ was a torment to the neighborhood by its discordant piping sounds, which visitors thereto took delight in turning a crank to produce. It was first opened in building now occupied by D. S. Brooks & Son.

In 1830–40 residences and business rapidly spreading westward and southward in this city. Some of the most important events transpiring were:—

In 1830 whipping as a punishment for theft was abolished in this state.

In 1832, 1849, 1854, 1866 and 1873 a few cases of Cholera in this city; when it was epidemic in these U. S.

June 17th, 1833, ANDREW JACKSON, President of the United States, was received and entertained by this city with a great military and civic parade, etc. With him was also received MARTIN VAN BUREN, then Vice President, who was subsequently elected President.

November 13th, 1833, very early in the morning, in all the eastern part of this country, was witnessed the most enchanting spectacle of this generation—millions of "shooting stars," or meteors, or a "rain of fire."

In 1834 the Legislature of this State appropriated $8,000—a part of the bonus charged the Exchange bank of this city, for its charter—for an iron fence, grading and trees around the then State house—now City hall; which fence was donated by Council and moved Oct. 1882, to Old Peoples Home, 20 Jefferson st.

Oct. 20, 1834, there was a riot in this city. The Free Church edifice, which was what is now known as Melodeon hall, 385 Main st., and was known as an anti-slavery church, a quantity of gunpowder, which had been secretly placed in the entrance to the building, was ignited, causing considerable damage to the same, and a panic in the assembly. Subsequently the religious meeting was also broken up at the African church, corner of Talcott and Market sts., by a mob breaking in the windows of the building. A few buildings occupied by colored persons were pulled down in other localities. Rewards were offered by the city for detection of the leaders, but no arrests were made.

In 1835, the Stone Brewery, now 169 Front street, was converted into a Silk factory and cocoonery; but the enterprise failed with the dying out of the "silk-worm fever" and with the craze for the cultivation of the MORUS MULTICAULIS, for feeding silk worms.

There was celebrated, Nov. 9th, 1835, the BI-CENTENNIAL of the settlement of this city The church bells were all rung an hour; a national salute fired at sunrise; the military of the city were paraded with the fire companies and state, city and town officers; followed by a public address in the Center church and finished up by a public dinner.

Sept. 14th and 15th, 1837, the 1st BRIGADE CONN. MILITIA was mustered by Gen. James T. Pratt in this city, for parade and inspection, etc. It was composed of 2 Regts. Artillery, 2 Regts. Cavalry, and 5 Regts. Infantry—5840 men. The Field day on the 15th was in the East Hartford meadows, above the bridge road. They were armed with the flint-lock muskets—the percussion cap musket not being substituted until 1854.

Feb. 16th, 1838, Major Gen. WINFIELD SCOTT visited this city. He arrived by stage from Albany and left the same day in the afternoon by steamboat for New York. This was before any railroad was finished here.

In 1840 began the Reformed Drunkards' Societies, under title of Washingtonians.

In 1840 a LOG CABIN was built for a Whig campaign, as a place for holding political meetings, on the corner of Asylum and Trumbull streets, where are now the Charter Oak Bank and several stores.

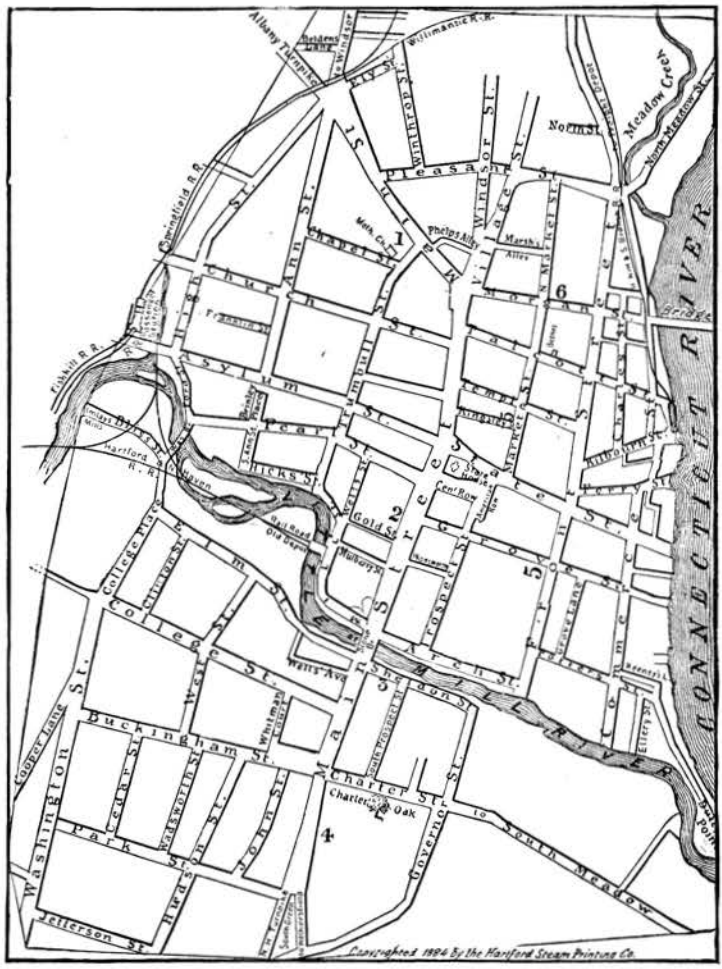

Feb. 7, 1842, CHARLES DICKENS arrived here from Springfield on up river steamer Phœnix. On the evening of the 8th a grand reception and dinner was given him at City Hotel. He gave a reading in the City Hall, Feb. 8th, from "Boz."

April 25, 1842, this city was divided into Wards—aldermen to be elected from each ward instead of as heretofore all on general ticket.

Oct. 3 and 4, 1843, the first Brigade Conn. militia was again mustered for inspection in this city as a Brigade, and inspection showed 5200 men in line.

Nov. 6, 1843, a city meeting voted $5,000, and appointed a committee to raise $5,000 additional to give the Hartford and Springfield Railroad, toward building their present branch to Connecticut river.

June 29, 1847, JAMES K. POLK, then President of the United States, was received with appropriate ceremonies.

HARTFORD IN 1850.

In 1845 a TELEGRAPH COMPANY was formed in this city to run one copper wire to New York and Boston. The wire would not work. It was immediately followed by another company with different make wires, and now there are numerous telegraphic wires by different companies. In 1843 the first telegraph line was started between Washington and Baltimore, first message May 24, 1844. The laying of it was begun in lead pipe in the ground, but as the machine proved incapable, it was ditched and abandoned. Then poles were used. Now in cities this idea of the original inventor is being carried out on a larger scale. The first message by ocean electrical cable was between Dover and Calais, Dec. 31, 1851; the first Atlantic cable message was July 27, 1866; now there are over 75,000 miles cable wire valued at $300,000,000, by several companies; and the rate for transmission of messages of $5.00 per word in 1866 is now only about 25 cents per word. A recent message from Melbourne in Australia to London in England, over 13,300 miles of wire, was in 23 minutes. In 1884, the ocean telegraph companies received for messages $4,440,000.

March 17th, 1848, Gen. SAM HOUSTON, of Texas, delivered an address in American hall.

In 1849, a few deaths in this city by Asiatic cholera.

Up to the year 1850, there were only three bridges and a fording place for teams directly west of Ford st. on Park river, which is now spanned by 21 bridges.

In 1850 JENNY LIND sang in this city, at the Fourth Congregational church.

July 4th, 1851, was celebrated in this city, as the 75th anniversary of our National Independence, by a grand turn out of Military, Firemen and Citizens generally, with fireworks in the evening.

Oct. 18, 1851, the CITY POLICE COURT was established, superseding the several Justice of the Peace Courts, in this city, in criminal cases.

In 1853 the city limits were extended, so as to include on the west a portion of the present Union Railroad station, the fording place west of Ford st. and southerly to South Park—not one-tenth of the area of the town.

In 1855 was completed the DYKE in the south meadow—called Vredendale and Wawarme avenues. It is 32.50 feet above the base line of the city, which corresponds to low water mark. It cost $80,745.35, and is 8,698 feet long and 30 to 50 feet wide at the top.

April, 1856, the business and settled portions of this City were all re-numbered and duplicate names of streets and avenues changed.

PUBLIC BATHING HOUSE.

The first free public bathing house was opened July 20, 1872; the second was built and opened for use July 22, 1884. Present house, to replace the 1884 structure which floated off to the sound in the spring freshet, was built by S. Gildersleeve & Sons, shipbuilders, Portland, Conn., in the most substantial manner and upon entirely different principle from the others. It is supported or floated by three pontoons or floats on a side, each 20 feet long, 7 wide and 4 in depth; and these are surrounded by 12x12 timbers, and in every way protected from any possible injury even if the house sank. These floats are detachable at any time and are independent from the others for any repairs by simply opening the sea valve in the bottom and partially filling with water so as to sink the pontoon away from the load. This house contains 36 dressing-rooms and 50 hooks, together with benches for the clothes of smaller children not using the rooms; an office with closets for valuables; one tank, 50 feet by 5 feet, with water depth of 2½ for young children, and one tank 56 by 20 feet, with water depth of 4 feet. Hours for men and boys, 7 to 12 A.M.; 1 to 5 and 6 to 8 P.M.; Sundays, 7 to 10 A.M.: For women and girls, 8 to 12 A.M.; 1.30 to 5 P.M.; week days only. Size of structure, 60x40 feet. Cost, $3,500. Alderman Jordan C. Wells, chairman; Councilmen John Watson, James J. McGrath; Thomas M. Day, supt.; Bernard Lynch, Asst. Supt.; Mrs. Betina Smart, matron.

TRUST DEPARTMENT.

SAFE DEPOSIT DEPARTMENT.

We beg to call your attention to our Fire and Burglar Proof SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT. It cannot be assailed by fire, being entirely outside the building, and under the heavy granite double sidewalk. Private boxes, strong in themselves, are protected by massive steel safes of the most approved construction, and these can only be reached through two sets of heavy vault doors, guarded by a Yale Time Lock. There are seventy-six distinct plates of welded steel and iron between the outside of the vault and the inner boxes. Trusty night watchmen pass entirely around the vault at stated intervals, and register their visits on a Watchman's Time Clock. We regard the vault as ABSOLUTELY SAFE and claim with confidence, that it is the strongest in New England. Boxes, under the entire control of the renter, are $10, $15, $20 per annum—a small sum for the perfect security we offer.

SILVER VAULT.

We have constructed a vault for storage of Family Silver, Laces, Jewels, etc., which has been built to supply an increasing demand for a place where heirlooms and other articles cherished for association, may be stored in safety. We cordially invite your inspection.

INSPECTIONS.

All Boilers under the care of this Company are carefully inspected annually, internally and externally, by competent, practical men, and frequent visits of inspection are made beside. Steam Gauges are tested, Safety Valves properly adjusted and weighted, Boiler Connections carefully examined, and information given relative to setting and management—all with a view to economy in the use of fuel, and safety to fire and property.

Thorough inspection is the foundation of this business, and is the best safeguard against accidents occurring in the use of steam boilers; nevertheless, circumstances may arise beyond the control of the steam user independent of any inspection, however thorough, which would result in disaster, involving not only destruction of property, but loss of life and personal injury. It is therefore well to consider these points when affecting Insurance.

The work of the Company thus far has brought to light many and dangerous defects; and we risk nothing in saying that disastrous explosions have been prevented. Where boilers are left unexamined for months and years together, incrustation, internal and external corrosion, burned plates and blisters, shorten their working age and render them positively dangerous. The usual mode of inspection, applying the hydraulic test, take no cognizance of these defects, and does but little towards insuring safety.

The Connecticut Mutual
LIFE INSURANCE CO.
1846—1901.

WHERE THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL STANDS.

During all the long struggle out of which this situation has developed, and amid the many schemes devised to attract public attention and favor to something else than life insurance, the attitude and position of The Connecticut Mutual has never been doubtful.

It has held to the cardinal facts: Life insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it his unavoidable duty. Those dependents we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that protection as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; our duty to him is to make its cost to him as small as possible.

SCHOOL FOR DANCING,

Will open for the Season of 1901-1902,

On Tuesday Evening, October 15th,

At Horse Guard Armory,
460 Main Street,

FOR BEGINNERS.

Pupils will be taught Waltz, Two Step, Schottische, Quadrille, Lanciers, Plain and Saratoga. Persons who can dance those, can dance at any public or private dance.

The Children's Class will meet Saturday Afternoons at 2 o'clock. They will be taught Deportment, as well as Dances suitable for children. Persons wishing to learn to dance after School opens, can do so by coming to my residence any evening.

Advance pupils will be taught Fancy Dances, as well as to improve on the style. Those wishing to join should call and see me before school opens.

A Word to Beginners.

Beginners joining my class will be relieved from the embarassment of taking their first lesson in a ball room, as I intend to give the first lesson in private at my residence. Beginners' classes now forming first lessons by appointment. I would like to call the attention of beginners to the fact that with my new system of teaching Waltz and Two-Step, it is almost impossible not to learn in one season to be a fair dancer.

Also a Class for Pupils attending High School that will meet Saturday evening from 7 to 9.30.

The School is located at corner of Sheldon and Main Streets, opposite Elm Street, and is up one flight of stairs. It has the largest floor space for dancers there is in any School in the city. Ladies' and gentlemen's parlors. All Main Street cars pass the door. Private lessons taught at my residence at very reasonable rates.

1900 population, see Preface of this book, page 7.

July 4, 1882, was celebrated in this city by the old time clatter of bells and booming of cannon at sunrise, a parade of all the military and fire engine companies, an exhibit of most of the trades, reading of declaration, an oration, singing by 800 school children, a balloon ascension; but owing to a sudden shower the beautiful display of fireworks was postponed two days.

Nov. 2d, 1882, four German Astronomers arrived and erected a house on Summit st. from which to take views of the transit of Venus; they left this city, having accomplished their mission, homeward bound Dec. 13th.

Feb. 22, 1883, a pretty and novel sight this morning was caused by a strong wind rolling up a damp and light fall of snow, into innumerable muffs or barrels or hollow cylinders on the ice. Similar remarkable exhibitions have occurred in 1830, 1815 and 1801.

June 21 and 22, 1883, the WASHINGTON LIGHT INFANTRY COMPANY, of Charleston, S. C., were entertained by the military and citizens of this city in the most hospitable manner, as guests of the 1st Reg't, C. N. G.

June 22 and 23, 1883, the NEW ORLEANS CONTINENTALS, guests of Putnam Phalanx and 1st Co. Gov. Foot Guard, could not have been more generously welcomed.

July 4, 1883, was celebrated as the national holiday, in this city, by members of the SUNDAY SCHOOLS in this city, parading in the streets to Bushnell Park, with appropriate exercises thereon; also a display of fireworks, after two postponements, from storms—which display must have been witnessed by 8000 persons.

Aug. 20, 1883, the 7th annual festival for three days of the Connecticut TURNERBUND Societies was held in this city, with festivities and dancing at Music Hall; street parades; and at Union Grove and Turner Hall, with athletic and gymnastic exhibitions for prizes; all closing with a grand ball at Allyn Hall.

Oct. 7 and 8, 1883, was celebrated in this city, the 200th anniversary of the landing in America of the first German colony of two score persons—13 families—at Germantown, Pa., by a magnificent torchlight procession, parades, banquets, ball, etc.

From Nov. 29, 1883, to Feb. 1884, on many evenings, there was a lurid crimson glow before the rising and after the setting of the sun that attracted universal attention. No satisfactory explanation. In 1783, near London, history records similar phenomena.

Feb. 28, 1884, Ex-Governor RICHARD D. HUBBARD died. The next day the General Assembly of Connecticut, in regular session assembled, listened to eulogies on his life and public services. On the 30th a large concourse of citizens, assembled within and outside of South Congregational church edifice, at the funeral services.

March 7 and 8, 1884, a most severe wind and rain storm prevailed that damaged trees to an unparalled extent, as if a Western cyclone had passed through them, breaking branches, etc. The rain congealed on limbs; thus increasing their diameters from ten to twenty times natural size—one twig that weighed 10 oz. was weighted with 69 oz. of ice! This ice encasement mostly remained four days on the trees. There was a continuous temperature of 3° to 8° below freezing.

Aug. 10, 1884, an earthquake in this city and throughout New England at 2.07 P. M., especially on sea coast, extending westerly to lake Erie, and southerly to South Carolina.

Sept. 10, 1884, bicycle races were held in this city by the Connecticut Bicycle Club, and the one mile record was 2.39; witnessed by several thousand persons.

Sept. 11, 1884, the Celestial Lodge, No. 2,014, of this city, celebrated its anniversary, with several visiting lodges, by a parade in the streets with bands of music, and in a hall, a collation, etc.

Nov. 1, 1884, Hon. JAMES G. BLAINE, the republican candidate for the presidency, and Gen. JOHN C. FREMONT, the 1856 candidate, visited this city, who were escorted by numerous political clubs of the state, to a stand erected in front of the City Hall, and they addressed the thousands assembled to see and hear them.

Dec. 18, 1884, the Old Peoples Home, 20 Jefferson st. was opened with appropriate dedicatory services.

During 1884, the amount invested in new buildings was over $700,000; but this does not include the new County house, or High School buildings, for these were included in 1883 amount of building investments.

Jan. 20, 1885, Connecticut river closed the third time with ice since Dec. 18, 1884, and remained closed until March 29th, with several weeks crossing by teams on the ice to within 12 miles of the sound. Steam tugs towed barges to this city at each opening.

Jan. 23, 1885, the voters of the South School District voted a second time, for building a new Wadsworth st. school house, by 677 yeas to 359 nays.

Feb. 10, 1885, the 300th anniversary of the births of Schuetz, Bach and Handel, the acknowledged princes of oratorios and organ music, was celebrated by a concert of their music in this city, by the Hartford Choral Union, in the Asylum Hill Congregational church.

May 11–13, 1885, THE AMERICAN CONGRESS OF CHURCHES.—a congress of ministers and laymen of American Protestantism, met at Allyn hall, in this city, and held their first annual meeting, "to promote Christian union, and to advance the kingdom of God, by a free discussion of the great religious, moral and social questions of the time."

May 11–16.—This has been a busy religious week in this city, viz: First meeting of a National Congress from Protestant Churches; formation of a State Sunday School Superintendents' Association; anniversary of the Hartford Theological Seminary; and a concert of the oratorio of The Messiah.

June 4, 1885.—The uniformed Encampments of the I. O. of Odd Fellows of the State of Connecticut made their annual parade in this city. The eight camps numbering about 400 members, handsomely uniformed, showed good discipline by their company and battalion drills and review.

Sept. 4, 1885.—A national Bicycle parade and tournament in this city, attended by 5,000 persons.

Aug. 18, 1885.—A state parade, in this city, of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, of about 3,000 members with 19 bands of music.

Sept. 23, 1885.—The uniformed degree of camps of Odd Fellows in this state, paraded in this city and celebrated in honor of Ridgeley the founder of this order.

Aug. 8, 1885.—Proclaimed a legal holiday in this state, commemorating the burial of the remains of Gen. ULYSSES S. GRANT, who died eight minutes past 8 A. M. July 23, 1885, aged 63 years. In this city 100 guns and a national salute were fired, business was suspended and appropriate exercises were held in Armory of 1st Regiment, with a crowded audience.

Oct. 1885.—Over 8,000 persons vaccinated in this city.

April 25, 1886.—Nearly 1000 Locomotive Engineers representing many societies of the BROTHERHOOD OF LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS in the U. S., met at Allyn hall, at their annual meeting, held for discussion of whatever was for their interest. This organization has been in existence 23 years, and have paid to members and their families $2,350,000. A more intelligent appearing body of men has never visited this city.

May 5, 1886, a LEGISLATIVE RE-UNION, to which all living past and present State Officers and members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Connecticut, was held in the Capitol in this City. There are about 5000 such persons now living; and from 1700 to 2000 were present. The oldest living were one in each of the years 1824 (Israel Coe, Waterbury, in the House), 1825, 1826, two in 1827; three each in 1828, 1829, 1830, 1831; five each in 1832, 1833, 1834, 1835; eleven in 1836;—the oldest Senator is Gen. Charles T. Hillyer, of this year, now of Hartford; from this year the numbers begin to increase. All rooms in the Capitol were occupied for re-unions in the forenoon, of the members of the several years from 1824 to 1886. A free lunch to the assembly was given them, by Hartford members, at the regimental armory, at noon.

After several weeks canvassing by members of the 1886 Legislature, of their respective towns, and the committee who so successfully marshaled so large a number of living members, gathered the following statistics of the number now living:—of governors, 10; lieut. governors, 11; secretaries of state, 12; treasurers, 11; comptrollers, 11; speakers of the house, 22; senators, 379; whole number, including above and representatives, 4,738; residing out of the State, 187; now residing in other towns, 534.

The State officers, of all years, were escorted by the Governor's Guards, to the capitol, as in century preceding the change of election to January.

May 19, 1886, was celebrated by the employes in the grocery and market stores in this city by a gala procession with their 180 business teams through several streets in this city, on account of a mutual agreement between employers and enmployed to close at 7 P. M.

June 8, 1886.—In excavating for the cellar of Brown, Thomson & Co's new building, rear of 249–257 Main, many human bones were unearthed from the northeast corner of the old Center Burying Ground, that were re-interred on the west side thereof.

Dec. 7, 1886, a Toboggan slide was first opened on Wethersfield av.

On the evening of March 14, 1887, Sonquassen Tribe No. 2, Improved Order of Red Men, of this city, marched to the depot, where they received about 225 members of Hammonassett Tribe No. 1, of New Haven, (who were dressed in full Indian costume). After forming in line, with Weed's full band at the head, a march was made through the principal streets. The sidewalks were crowded with people to get a glimpse of the "savages" who, in connection with the burning of red fire, made a very grotesque appearance, which will not be soon forgotten. They had a "big pow wow" at Allyn Hall and a grand banquet at Putnam Phalanx Hall; the New Haven tribe returning on a special train at midnight.

May 19, 1887, at 1 o'clock P. M., the first biennial session of the Connecticut legislature was adjourned; this being the longest session on record.

Charter Oak.

THE CHARTER OAK TREE, Nov. 7, 1853,

In the trunk of which was concealed the Charter of Connecticut, from October 31st, 1687, to May 9th, 1689. This old Charter was won by Gov. John Winthrop, to the colonists, from Charles II., King of England, April 23, 1662. This tree stood on lot No. 29 Charter Oak av. The above engraving we had made for our use, by a Hartford artist, Nov. 7, 1853, just as it then appeared. It measured at its base thirty-three feet in circumference, and where the stump was broken off seven feet above the ground, was twenty-one feet in circumference. Twenty-seven persons have stood up in its hollow, where the charter was hid. It was blown down in a severe storm, Aug. 21, 1856. The following engraving has been made especially for this Directory, by the same artist who made the above engraving, and is from a drawing taken on the day of this sad disaster. The tree stood inside of a wooden picket fence, and a marble stone in a stone offset wall, now marks the spot where this tree stood, with the inscription, "CHARTER OAK FELL Aug. 21, 1856."

May 7, 1896, James J. Goodwin of Hartford presented to the Connecticut Society of Sons of Colonial Wars the narrow strip of land, about 100 feet long, the point of which intersects Charter Oak avenue and Charter Oak place. A suitable monument will be erected upon this plot of ground to take the place of present almost obscure mark where the old tree stood.

A special session of the GENERAL COURT held in Hartford, July, 1687, "publiquely declare and protest against the said Major Edmond Andross and these his illegal proceedings, as also against all his aiders and abettors as disturbers of the publique peace." This court also "commanded all good people, subject in this Colony of Connecticut, under our present government, utterly to refuse to attend, countenance, or obey the sayd Major Edmond Andross, or any under him, in any order, instruction or command, contrary to the laws of this colony, established under the aforesaid charter." The unsuccessful attempt to wrest this charter from this State was made by Sir Edmond Andross, Oct. 31, 1687. The General Court was assembled at the Inn, (which was then kept, under order of the General Court, on the lot where now is the Universalist church, 234 Main street,) to meet Governor Andross. When there assembled, the lights being put out, by arrangement, where Andross and the authorities had the Charter and were discussing it, Capt. Joseph Wadsworth carried it off in the dark and hid it so effectually in the hollow of the Charter Oak tree, that it could not be found. There it remained until May 9, 1689. The original Charter, engrossed on three parchment skins, is in the State Library room, framed in wood from the tree that concealed it from the minions of James II. Duplicate of this charter engrossed on two parchment skins is in the room of the Conn. Historical Society. All North American colonies or states were subjected to the kingly veto power, except Connecticut. This charter was the grain of mustard seed, planted in Hartford, April 23, 1662, that sprang up, grew, and bore fruit in the revolution, by expanding into a large and liberty-enjoying nation of towns and states; having thus been nurtured in its unexampled growth, by the terms of this charter, that gave free action to the original town system of government, in the liberty of the wilderness. The mode of government, established by this instrument, was reasserted, etc., by the adoption of our present constitution, in 1818. On the 23d day of April, 1897, this Charter was 235 years old.

Trees propagated from acorns from the Charter Oak tree are growing:—one about twenty feet in height, on Bushnell Park, in the triangular plot near the Trumbull st. bridge; one on this Park, nearly opposite 93 Elm st.; one in yard to 5 Collins st.; and one in yard 82 Ann st., and one at "Armsmere," just south of Mrs. Colt's house, 30 Wethersfield avenue.

BATTLE FLAGS OF CONNECTICUT.

In the West Vestibule are the remnants of the BATTLE FLAGS of the Connecticut Regiments which were marshalled in fine array and deposited there in handsome and substantial glass cases, under escort of the surviving members of the several Connecticut regiments, who made a grand triumphal march on Sept. 17, 1879, through the streets of this City, to their final resting place. June 18, 1884, a statue of Gov. Buckingham was placed with these battle flags.

THE OLD TOMBSTONE OF GEN. PUTNAM.

Is in the west vestibule, which has been replaced in Brooklyn, Conn., with a monument by the State at a cost of $10,000.

Of the millions of dollars settled between Hartford banks and their customers, not $100,000 of currency or gold was used. A recent report of the U. S. Comptroller of the currency shows that 95.13 per cent of the cash transactions of all the banks in the United States are performed with checks, drafts and other credit tokens.

HARTFORD PUBLIC EVENING SCHOOL.

MR. SOLON P. DAVIS, Principal.

Hartford has maintained a PUBLIC EVENING SCHOOL for over thirty years.

During the past season classes were maintained in the Pitkin building, on the Hartford Public High property and at the Morgan Street Chapel, with a capable corps of twenty-three instructors and an average attendance of over three hundred pupils.

Beginning with a total registration of 186 scholars in 1869, the number of applicants for the benefits of evening training has increased with the city's growth until the past season, when the number was over 1,200.

The school has never had a permanent location, but has been shifted from one locality to another as it has been possible to find temporary accommodations.

The School Board is at present making an earnest effort to secure permanent quarters for it and to provide for its proper development.

In its early history, instruction was confined to the "three R's," but in later years other studies have been added in accordance with the demands of the times, until at present its curriculum includes a department of High School studies, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Bookkeeping, Mechanical Drawing, English Literature and outlines of History.

The department of Grammar School studies includes Language, Arithmetic, Geography, United States History, Civil Government, Penmanship.

A department of English is maintained where foreigners are taught the use of the English language, and classes have been opened in cooking and sewing.

The schools have been successively under the charge of Principals F. F. Barrows, A. F. Morse, P. H. Pearl, William T. Gage, W. I. Twitchell, F. A. Brackett and Solon P. Davis, the latter of whom has had charge of the work since 1895, when the main school was established in what is known as the Pitkin house at No. 625 Asylum St., on the High School grounds.

Mr. Davis is a graduate of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, and has been connected with the public evening schools as director of the department of Draughting since 1886.

This work is rightfully claiming a recognized place for itself among the forceful educational agencies of our city.

ALBANY AVENUE BRIDGE.

Built in 1850, cost $1,800.

ASYLUM AVENUE BRIDGE.

Built in 1860, cost $1,924.05.

ASYLUM ST. R. R. AND CHURCH ST. BRIDGES,

Including the approaches of both to the Union Station, completed in 1890, costing $395,049.84, of which amount the City of Hartford has paid $197,524.92, being one-half of the cost. June 9, 1891, there commenced a hearing before the Railroad Commissioners for an adjustment, whereby the city should not pay more than thirty per cent., and June 2, 1892, they rendered their decision that the city pay one-half.

ASYLUM STREET (PARK) BRIDGE.

BROAD STREET BRIDGE,

Over Park river, built in 1897; steel plate girder, cost $16,854. Over railroad tracks, of the Truesdell pattern, erected of iron in 1867, cost $52,111.79—Railroad Companies paying $7,550 thereof.

CAPITOL AVENUE BRIDGE,

COMMERCE STREET BRIDGE,

A swing or draw-bridge, costing $14,000, built in the fall of 1859. Town paid $8,750. This has been superseded by a new iron swing bridge which was finished in 1887, and cost $9,100.

CONNECTICUT RIVER BRIDGE.

For Commissioners, see page 824.

Built in 1809, was an open bridge, carried away by a freshet March 2, 1818, (as was also the bridge at Springfield, 26 miles north of this city) and rebuilt Dec. 1818. It was 1060 feet in length, and cost with the raising of the causeway over East Hartford meadows, in 1859, the sum of $135,000, divided into 600 shares. This was re-built after the Legislature had abolished the ferry between the two towns, that had been running from 1681, first from foot of Kilbourn st. then changed to Ferry street. In 1836 the ferry was re-established, and boat propelled by two horses, one on each side of the boat. In 1841 this right was rescinded by the legislature. The next year it was restored. The case then went through all the courts, and was decided that the restoration was in violation of the 1818 contract, by which the bridge was re-built. The travel of the bridge by actual count was over 1,000 vehicles and over 1,600 footmen, daily. The 1887 legislature voted to make this a free bridge. June 11, 1888, Edward W. Seymour, Fred. J. Kingsbury and Thomas Sanford, the commission appointed by the 1887 legislature to assess the damages, gave their decision which amounted to $210,000. The legislature of 1889 voted to pay $84,000 and the towns of Hartford, East Hartford, Glastonbury, Manchester and South Windsor the balance, $126,000 which was paid, making it a free bridge September 11, 1889. May 17, 1890, the Hartford Bridge Co. voted a final dividend of $25 per share; making a total of $345.50 per share paid to its stockholders. The bridge and approaches were taken by the State of Connecticut under Public Act CCXXXIX, session of 1893.

The legislature of May 24, 1895, repealed the act of 1893, and in June, 1895, passed an act creating a "Bridge District," comprising the original five towns, viz., Hartford, East Hartford, Glastonbury, Manchester and South Windsor, thus placing the rebuilding, care and maintainance of the bridge and causeway on the said five towns.

The old bridge was totally destroyed by fire at 7.15 P.M. Friday, May 17, 1895.

A temporary bridge on spiling was built by the Berlin Bridge Co. and opened for travel Saturday afternoon, June 8, 1895; the west end was carried away by freshet, Dec. 23, 1895, at 1.10 A. M.; the remaining portion, except a short length on the East Hartford side was swept away by freshet, March 1, 1896, and the steam ferryboats "Schuykill" and "Nellie" for foot passengers, the "F. C. Fowler" and "Cora" for teams, were run for public travel, comfort and convenience between the two towns. A new temporary iron bridge, to cost over $30,000, was commenced by the Berlin Iron Bridge Co., May 4, 1896, and opened for travel June 12, 1896.

HARTFORD OPERA HOUSE DIAGRAM, See page 510B.

fall of 1833—less than one year from the time it was begun, by Elias Rathbun, the contractor, whose indefatigable labors thereon brought on a paralyzed side, including arm and leg. The bridges of wood on high trestle work that preceded this one, had rows of stores on either side on Main st. over the river, and was called market bridge. The generally expressed opinion of that day, after over half a century's use of this bridge is as true in 1896 as it was in 1833, on the unanimous town vote of its acceptance, that this bridge "combines strength with elegance of architecture, and is honorable to the town." The largest stone arch in this state.

THE CONNECTICUT CAPITOL COMMISSIONERS advertised for plans for a Capitol edifice in 1871. Among the several plans which were first submitted, was one modeled from the Bradford Town Hall, in England. The present edifice is not modeled therefrom, but was planned solely in reference to the site on which it stands, and to the wants of the State.

The main idea of the architect was to follow the order of the 13th Century Gothic, though the strict rules of this order were materially modified at every step in the construction of the building. It is not even Victoria Gothic, but a modernized and Americanized improvement upon all the various changes that have been made in many centuries upon the order of Gothic architecture. The ground was first broken therefor in the spring of 1872. But before the foundation was completed, so much public dissatisfaction was exhibited, with the plan first adopted, and the universal desire expressed for a fire proof building, that the first commission resigned, and a new one appointed, that went forward, in the year 1874, to erect the present edifice on an improved plan.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION.

The portion of Bushnell Park allotted to the State Capitol, is bounded, north by a roadway, east by Trinity street, south by Capitol avenue, and west by Broad street and the Park river; without any fences.

The edifice on Bushnell Park, in the City of Hartford, of the modern secular Gothic in style, is unrivaled in location. The general ground plan of building is that of a parallelogram. It has four fronts, nearly corresponding with the four cardinal points of the compass. Its extreme length is 295 feet 8 inches; depth of center part 189 feet 4 inches; depth of wings, 111 feet 8 inches; depth of intermediate parts, 102 feet 8 inches; height from ground line to top of crowning figure 256 feet 6 inches; level of building ground line is 84.7 feet above mean low water at Saybrook. Material, white marble. The frame work of slated roof is iron. The building is fire proof—probably the only fire proof Capitol in this world. There are over 500 windows, 200 doors, and over two acres of flooring to be swept and kept clean. The Commissioners spent about $400,000 annually, during its erection, of the $2,000,000 that was appropriated for this fire proof structure; and upon completion of their labors they reported to the State about $13,000 unexpended of the amount the State had appropriated. Competent critics from other states pronounce it as "unique and unrivaled among structures of this kind in America."

The Connecticut Legislature met in the new Capitol March 26, 1878, and its annual sessions on Wednesday, Jan. 8, 1879. The State Offices were moved therein, Oct. 26, 1878. Since January, 1888, the Legislature has met here biennially.

When a State flag is raised over the west wing of the Capitol the Governor is in his office; and when over the east wing the Senate is in session; and when over the south wing the House of Representatives is in session—aside from public occasions.

Four steam boilers of fifty horse power each are set in a vault outside of the building, and are working satisfactorily in every respect. Much attention has been given to properly warming and ventilating this spacious building, and from results already attained, efforts in this respect are entirely successful. Thirty miles in length of steam, water and gas pipes were laid as the building progressed.

The statues of Roger Sherman*, Thomas Hooker†, Jonathan Trumbull‡ and John Davenport‖, cut in fine statuary marble, seven feet in height, also medallions of Noah Webster§ and Horace Bushnell? are placed on each side of the center tympanum over the east entrance, upon which a correct representation of the historical Charter Oak Tree is cut. Places have been left for many marble statues, busts, and historical designs upon the tympana.

In the Agricultural room, No. 50, third floor, is a rare exhibit of Connecticut productions.

On the second floor near Representatives hall is that celebrated Vienna premium fountain, presented this State, on a marble base.

ARRANGEMENT OF ROOMS.

As the interior of the rooms of the building have been arranged by the Commissioners, the rooms of the State Officers are on the first floor, the Executive and Legislative rooms on the second or main floor, the Legislative Committee rooms on the third and fourth floors, above the Senate and House floors. Except the floors of the Legislative halls and offices, which are of hard pine, the only woods used in the building for finishing, fittings and furniture, are oak, black walnut and ash. There is no veneer or varnish used in the entire building. The woods are left in their natural state, except that the pores are filled with some preparation and rubbed down with hard oil finish, thus giving a smooth surface without a shining polish.

In the corridor is the celebrated HISTORICAL WHEEL, battle scarred, etc. Also in the office of the Adjutant General is a portrait of Gen. NATHANIEL LYON, who was born at Ashford, July 14, 1819; graduated at West Point; entered U. S. Army as Lieutenant, July, 1841; was in the Florida Indian war; also in the Mexican war; was is command of U. S. Arsenal at St. Louis at breaking out of the rebellion in 1861; and was killed while leading his command at the battle of Wilson Creek Mission, Aug. 10, 1861; and his remains were interred at Eastford, Conn., Sept. 5, 1861.

THE SENATE CHAMBER

Has a floor 50 by 40 feet with a height from floor to ceiling of 37 feet. Three windows on the east front of the building admit herein direct light, and the central panel in the ceiling is also a skylight. The desks are placed in three lines of eight each, one facing the President's desk and the others on the sides at right angles; on the east or fourth side there are six desks for Reporters, corresponding with Senators' desks, leaving a large rectangular area in the center and ample passage ways around the outside. Rows of desks do not meet at the corners, leaving passage ways toward the several angles of the room. The Colonial Assembly; statesman; judge of the Superior Court of Connecticut; treasurer of Yale College; member of Convention that framed United States Constitution, 1793; in United States Senate 19 years, and died July 23, 1793.

Washington called him "Brother Jonathan."

‖JOHN DAVENPORT, born in England, 1597, went to New Haven, 1638; died in Boston, 1670.

§NOAH WEBSTER, born in Hartford, Conn., in 1758; author of Webster's Spelling Book and Webster's Unabridged Dictionary; died in New Haven, Conn., in 1843.

entire chamber is finished in oak. The carpet has a small pattern agreeable to the eye and in harmony with the walls. The gas fixtures, also, for these halls and the Supreme Court room, which are all of similar pattern, and are of plain, solid finished brass, with no imitations. These fixtures are typical of everything throughout the entire building—being solid, substantial, honest and durable. The desks and chairs of the Senate are oak. The top levels or backs of the desks have a covered recess for the reception of pens, ink and pencils, and under the desks—which is also a receptacle for papers, documents, etc. The chairs have cane seats and backs covered with crimson leather, the back upholstering bearing in emboss work the State coat of arms. The chairs move on hard rubber casters, which are noiseless.

In the Senate Chamber is the celebrated ORIGNAL FULL LENGTH PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON, taken from life by STUART, for which this State in 1800 paid less than the sum of $800—now it has a priceless value. And a copy of the same, by another artist, is in the Aldermen's chamber in the City Hall. Also, the Lieutenant Governor's Chair, carved from Charter Oak wood, is in the Senate Chamber.

The Colonial Legislature of Connecticut was without a Senate for the first sixty years after its settlement. From the union of the colonies of New Haven and Connecticut under the new charter in 1662 to 1701, all the sessions of the General Court or Legislature, were held in Hartford; but at the latter date, it was enacted that the October session should be held in New Haven, and this prevailed till the Constitution of 1818 was adopted, when annual sessions were held the even years, as 1820, at New Haven, and the odd years, as 1819, at Hartford. This remained till the amendment to our State Constitution was adopted in 1873, to take effect on and after first Wednesday in May, 1875, restoring Hartford as the sole capital. So it seems to be no new thing to have one capital, and that, Hartford. And on and after January, 1877, it met here annually, on the Wednesday after the first Monday in January. Since January, 1888, the Legislature has met here biennially.

THE REPRESENTATIVES' HALL

Is on the central projecting building of the south front, and supported on an arcade of polished granite columns with carved marble caps, and is lighted by windows on the east, south and west. It has a floor area 84 by 56 feet, and a height of 48 feet. The gallery for spectators being on the north side, on which side is the Speaker's desk. The length of the Representatives hall is from east to west, and the floor is a series of platforms four feet six inches wide, with risers, or steps, of seven inches. On these the members' desks and seats, in amphitheatrical form, are arranged with radial aisles, having the space around the Speaker's desk for the center. There is a central aisle, and two running to the corners of the desk with a shorter aisle in the center of each section of seats, the largest groups or sections having seven seats, and there being only two of this number. By this arrangement no member in reaching his seat is obliged to pass by more than two of his fellow members. In this hall the woodwork and furniture are of black walnut, similar to those in the Senate chamber, except that they are upholstered in maroon leather. The gallery has seats for about 250 persons.

THE GOVERNOR'S ROOMS.

The Governor's rooms consist of a private office, audience room and private secretary's room, finished in oak and furnished with adjoining safety vault. In the southwest corner of the second floor, lighted by windows on the south and west.

In the Governor's room is the portrait of Major Gen. ISRAEL PUTNAM, commander at "Battle of Bunker Hill," June 17, 1776; born at Salem, Mass., Jan. 7, 1718; died at Brooklyn, Conn., May 19, 1790.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR'S ROOMS.

The corner rooms south of the Senate chamber at the east end of the building are for the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House. They are connected by a doorway In these rooms are portraits of several Lieutenant Governors and ex-Speakers of the House.

THE COMMITTEE ROOMS.

Twenty-three in all, are on the second, third and fourth floors, in close vicinity to the halls of the assembly, and are amply sufficient in number for all the business of a session. In all there are eighty rooms for the use of State officers, committees, and the convenience of them and members of the legislature.

STATE DEPARTMENT ROOMS.

On the first floor are rooms for the Treasurer, Comptroller, School Fund Commissioner, Insurance Commissioner, Adjutant General, Paymaster General; on second floor, the Secretary of State; on third floor, the Quartermaster General and Labor Commissioner.

THE SUPREME COURT ROOM

Is on the third floor in the west portion of the building, and is lighted by six windows on the west side, arranged in two rows. It is 50 by 31 feet on the floor, and has a height of 35 feet from floor to ceiling. It is finished in ash.

THE STATE LIBRARY ROOM

Is on this floor, and has a superficial area of 85 by 55 feet with a height same as the supreme court room—35 feet. It is situated on the north center; its north windows overlook the northern entrance.

In the State Library are the portraits of all the Governors of the State of Connecticut, up to 1893 inclusive, excepting those of John Haynes, Edward Hopkins, Thomas Wyllys, Thomas Welles, John Webster, William Leet, Robert Treat, Joseph Talcott, Jonathan Law, Roger Wolcott, Thomas Fitch, William Pitkin, Matthew Griswold, Roger Griswold, also the old original State Charter.

A CLOCK

Is located in room No. 71, on the fourth floor, with 17 dials, connected by the electric system in the several rooms.

ELEVATOR AND FLOORS.

A steam elevator, six by eight feet, is located near the center of the building. The floors throughout the Capitol are built with brick arches turned against iron beams. In the construction of the roof, iron has been extensively used, so that the building is considered thoroughly fire proof.

THE CAPITOL DOME

Has an area of 4,100 square feet, requiring 87,500 leaves of gold 3⅜ inches square, 23 karets fine. The gilding and dome were finished October 11, 1879. It is reached by 275 steps from the first floor, or by 212 steps from the elevator's landing. The view therefrom extends nearly fifty miles in all directions, embracing the rivers, the cities, numerous villages, etc.

The central and commanding feature of the building is the dome, which is richly adorned with arcades, columns, galleries, etc. Is is constructed of marble like the rest of the building. The dome, in plan, is a duodecagon (twelve sided), and on each terminal, at angles, is placed a female figure, representing Force, Art, Law, Commerce, Science, Agriculture, (two each); one-half size models are standing at entrance of House gallery, third floor. The large figure representing the Genius of Connecticut surmounts the cupola, and holds two wreaths, one of immortelles and one of laurel, and on its head a crown of oak leaves; the model stands on the first floor in the north wing.

THE FINISH.

The wood finish presents a pleasing variety of oak, ash and black walnut, the details being in conformity with the general work. Substantial vaults with iron and steel doors, and also combination locks, and all the most approved guards for safety are provided for the Treasurer, School Fund Commissioner, and other officers.

THE law of June 1, 1883, provides for the appointment of County Coroners for three years, and each Coroner to have appointment of a Deputy, and a Medical Examiner, for each town. SECTION 4.—"When any person shall come to a sudden, violent, or untimely death, and when any person shall be found dead, the manner of whose death is not known, any one who shall become aware of such death shall forthwith report the same to the Medical Examiner for the Town in which the body lies," etc. If the Medical Examiner is satisfied that the death was not caused by the criminal act, omission or carelessness of another, he reports the case to the Coroner for record; but if, in the opinion of the Medical Examiner, such death was caused by the criminal act, omission or carelessness of another, or is attended with suspicious circumstances, he immediately notifies the Coroner who proceeds forthwith to take charge of the body and make all necessary inquiry concerning the cause and manner of death.

Surveys for these works were commenced Oct. 1853; ground broke June, 1854 and first pumping of water, Oct. 23, 1855. The engines and pumps were used in supplying water to the Garden Street Reservoir from the Connecticut river up to Jan. 2, 1867, at 2 P. M., at which time water from West Hartford was substituted.

Owing to droughts and failure of the reservoirs to supply a large part of the city, the pumps were run from Sept. 22, 1879, to Jan. 23, 1880; from Oct. 3, 1891, to Dec. 8, and from Dec. 22 to 30, 1891; from Dec. 4, 1899, to Feb. 9, 1900, with the exception of eight days for repairs. The hourly capacity is 154,000 gallons delivered at reservoir, which is at an elevation of 125 feet above the river, and 1⅛ miles distant from it. The load upon the engine at low water, and with a full reservoir, is 11,934 pounds.

Total consumption of water for the year ending March 1, 1869, when it was all measured at the pumping works, was 700,000,000 gallons. Under the direct distribution from the West Hartford reservoir during 1876 was 1,808,500,000 gallons, equal to 4,954,795 gallons per day. In 1899 the average daily supply was about 12,000,000 gallons.

The pier in the river, to protect the receiving pipe, is where at low water, there is 12 feet in depth, the water running into a well 140 feet from the river.

The ORIGINAL GARDEN STREET RESERVOIR, 97-175 Garden street, is connected by 6,879 feet of 16 inch iron pipe, with Pumps on Water st.; holds 8,600,000 gallons.

Was incorporated in 1822, and opened for the reception of patients April 1, 1824. There were at that time but three or four like Institutions in the country, and the necessity of this one had been strongly urged. The funds for its establishment came mostly from individuals of benevolent character, who were kindly disposed, and who saw how great the need was. As its reputation increased under the judicious administration of Dr. Todd, it became necessary to furnish further accommodations. These have been increased until now there are various apartments for one hundred and sixty patients.

No patient is admitted for a shorter term than three months; and payment for that term only is to be made in advance to the Steward or Treasurer.

Letters relating to quarterly bills and clothing should be addressed to Henry J. Thompson, the Steward. Clothing and packages sent for the use of the inmates should be sent to the care of the Steward.

All letters in relation to the situation and health of the patients, etc., will, of course, be addressed to Dr. Henry P. Stearns, the Superintendent.

Application for the admission of patients must be made to the Superintendent, Dr. Henry P. Stearns, at Retreat, previous to the patient's being brought to the Retreat, in all cases. A brief statement of the case should accompany the application.

ANNUAL MEETING SECOND WEDNESDAY IN DECEMBER.

GURDON W. RUSSELL, M. D., President.

Dedicated May 19, 1859. Cost of building and grounds, $244,303; all of which was donated by individuals except $50,000 from this state. A "Contagious Ward" department, completed at a cost of $25,000, contains 19 beds. A Home for Nurses has been opened at a cost of over $50,000. Also a gift of a new Memorial Building in memory of Miss Elizabeth Trumbull Robinson, to be used as a Children's Ward, erected on the grounds. Also a new Tuberculosis Pavilion, erected at the Wildwood Farm at a cost of about $40,000, and to accomodate about 60 patients.

The McCray Ward has been established in connection with our Lying in Ward, the present capacity being 16 beds

The growth of the Hospital from the opening in 1860, will be better realized by comparing the number of beds available at that and the present time. In 1860 the number of beds was 48—40 in the wards, and 8 private rooms. The present capacity is 220 beds—165 in the 7 wards, 22 private rooms, 21 beds in children's ward, and 12 in the lying-in department.

The number of patients remaining at date of last report was 172; admitted during the year, 2,030; the daily average was 155.5; the largest number for 1 day was 205; the smallest number for 1 day was 123. The deaths numbered 265. Of these, 27 were the result of accidents, and lived but a short time after admission, and 51 were due to consumption. The appropriation from the State, of $5,000 has partially supported 1,290 patients, at the rate of $1.05 per week for each patient. The average cost per week for each patient was $8.46. Patients have been received from 80 different towns in the State.

The pavilion for contagious diseases built within the amount subscribed by citizens, namely, $25,000, and is 109 by 48 feet, has 7 rooms and 19 beds for patients.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth M. Friend, has been ably conducted. The graduates of the year, 19 in number, under examination, proved themselves fully competent, and we can confidently recommend them to whoever may need intelligent and efficient service.

The Executive Committee direct the internal management, including the grounds and buildings, both of the Hospital and Home.

The visiting physicians and surgeons take charge of the medical and surgical departments, and arrange their time for visiting the Hospital. Acute cases are visited every day, and chronic cases as often as necessity requires.

All moneys for board of patients at the Hospital and inmates of the Home must be paid to the Superintendent. Patients to the Hospital may be admitted by either member of the Executive Committee, subject to the approval of said Committee at their regular Hospital meeting. Inmates of the Home must be admitted and discharged by a unanimous vote of said Committee present at said meeting.

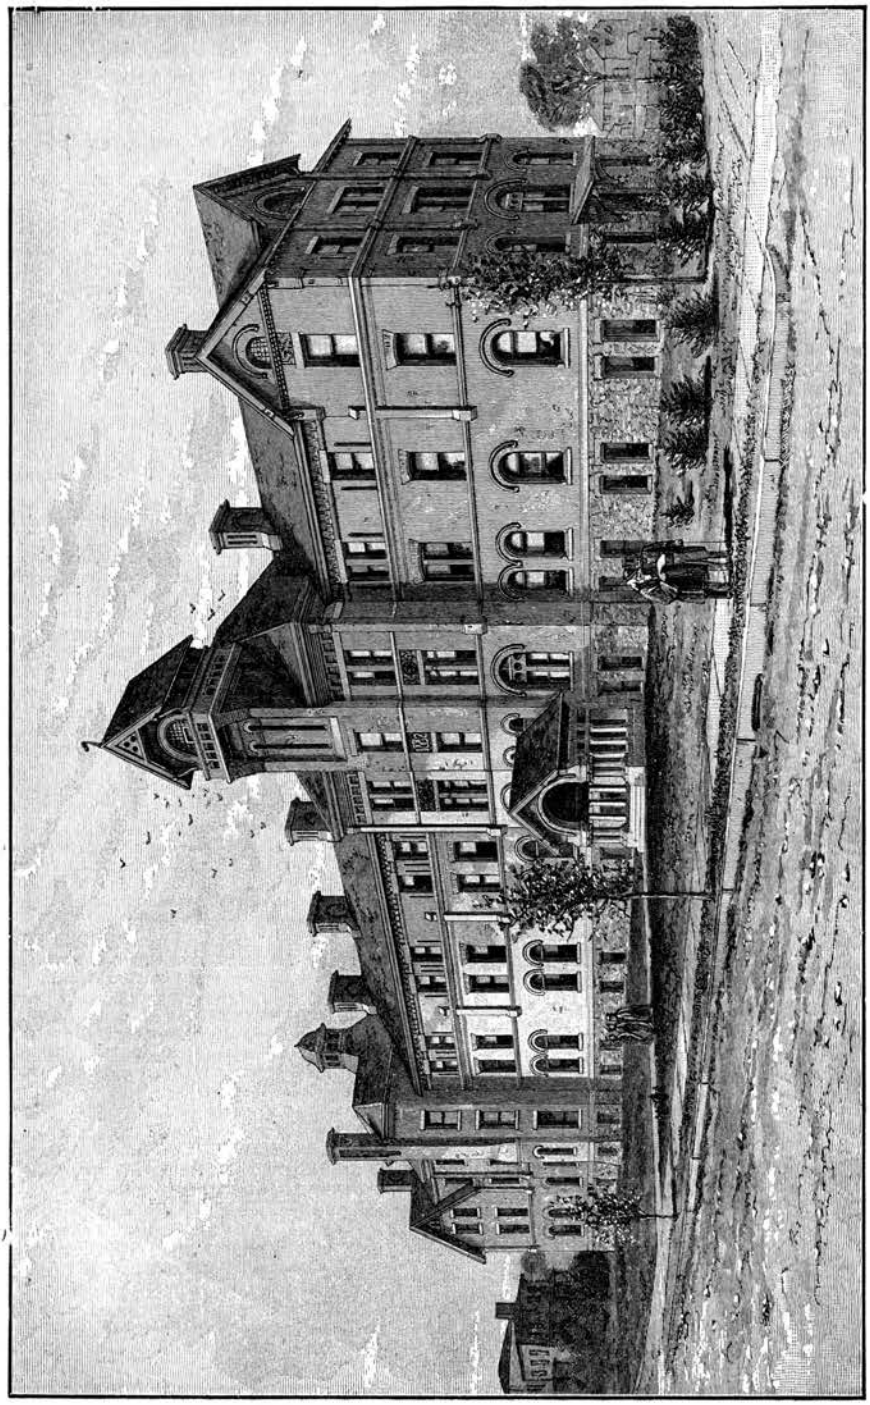

Neither the Medical Staff nor Executive Committee shall receive from the Hospital or Home compensation in any form for duties performed in their behalf. The regular visits of the visiting physicians and surgeons are made daily between the hours of 2 and 4 P. M. Extra visits shall be made whenever the necessity of the case demands. They shall report to the Superintendent patients who are in a proper condition to be discharged from the Hospital.

No operation shall be performed without the consent of the patient; but if consent cannot be obtained after all the surgeons in consultation have decided that the patient's safety demands it, the visiting surgeon shall advise the discharge of the patient from the Hospital.

The resident physician and surgeon shall visit the patients in their respective wards every morning and evening, and be prepared to report their condition to the visiting physicians and surgeons.

No ardent spirits or other stimulating drinks shall be brought into the Hospital by the patients or their friends; neither shall patients be furnished fruit or any article of food, without the knowledge or permission of the Superintendent.

All patients are admitted by permit from one of the Executive Committee or Superintendent, who arranges the price per week, according to the circumstances of the case and accommodations required.

CHARTERED IN 1873. OLD PEOPLE'S HOME. 36 JEFFERSON STREET.

Old People's Home,

36 JEFFERSON STREET.

OFFICERS:

Executive Committee.—HARMON G. HOWE, M.D., THOMAS SISSON, LOUIS R. CHENEY.
JOSEPH B. HALL, M. D., Physician. BENJAMIN S. GILBERT, Superintendent.
MRS. ELIZABETH J. FOX, Matron. CARRIE M. FOX, Assistant Matron.

VISITING DAY—Thursday, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock A.M., and from 2 to 4 o'clock P.M. At other times only by permission of the Superintendent or Matron.

This department of the Hospital was opened for the reception of inmates December 1, 1884.

The present number of permanent inmates is 56; boarders, 8; total, 64.

There is a class of aged and infirm persons who cannot find homes with their relatives or friends, either through inability in adapting themselves to new surroundings, or whose habits and disposition render them disagreeable and uncomfortable to their friends or relatives, who may be willing, or are morally bound to afford them a home in their old age. These should not be considered objects of public charity. While it might be proper to admit them as boarders, their friends should be chargeable for their full support. The Home should not assume any responsibility for their future, unless a sum, the interest of which would be sufficient for this purpose, should be paid into the treasury of the Hospital, and become a part of the permanent fund.

Another class of applicants includes those aged and homeless persons who are in possession of some small amount of money, but insufficient for their comfortable support, and if their years are prolonged, the dreary prospect of the almshouse is before them. These ought to be received as permanent inmates, provided the conditions of admission are satisfied; and as the admission fee will only cover the expense of support for a year or two, any property they may possess over and above this amount should be paid over to the Treasurer of the Hospital, to indemnify the institution in some slight degree for the responsibility assumed.

Still another class comprises those aged, infirm and homeless ones who are destitute of friends and means of support. This class is a large one, and appeals strongly to our sympathy.

The liberality of our citizens toward the Hospital encourages us in the firm belief that when the needs of the "Old People's Home" are fully appreciated, and the vast amount of good to be accomplished by its agency is understood, it will not suffer for lack of funds; and that in the near future the terms of admission may be made more liberal. It has been a source of regret to those in its management that for want of money they have been obliged to refuse admission to many worthy aged and infirm persons, who have been looking forward to this Home for shelter in their declining years.

This department has some unique features, differing in many respects from institutions of similar purpose in our country. Many of the Homes for the aged and infirm are established and maintained by religious denominations for the care of those members of their own churches in need. Others are limited to residence in the city or town where they are located. Others, still, are established for the benefit of a particular race. Few receive both sexes.

In some respects the Old People's Home is a novel experiment, restricted neither by religious tenants, residents in the city, sex or race.

The building has proved to be admirably fitted in every respect for the purpose designed, furnishing a pleasant and comfortable home for the aged and infirm. It offers shelter, wholesome food, warmth, and medical service (a not inconsiderable item with the aged). Its doors are open and cannot be closed upon those of its inmates who desire to withdraw at any time.

Persons desiring temporary accommodation in the Home, will be charged such a sum as the Executive Committee may find necessary to cover the expenses of board, etc.

Applicants for admission to the Old People's Home must be citizens of Hartford County, persons of good character, not under sixty years of age, and in reduced circumstances.

Applications for admission must be made to the Executive Committee, and a full statement of circumstances of applicant must be given.

No physician except those connected with the Hospital will be allowed to attend the inmates, except by permission of the Chairman or some member of the Executive Committee.

No spirituous liquors shall be brought into the Home, nor shall any be used by any inmate unless the same be prescribed by the attending physician, and placed in charge of and administered by the Matron.

Two trained nurses are in attendance continuously upon the feeble and sick.

ORGANIZED 1878. :::::::: INCORPORATED 1884.

First rooms were located southwest corner of Grove and Prospect streets, and were opened April 29, 1878. Later the house on the opposite corner, (southeast) was occupied by the Association. In January, 1887, the Association removed to the Foster Building, corner of Asylum and Ann streets, occupying a large portion of the second floor, and introducing a Physical Department. On November 8, 1893, the new and commodious building now occupied was opened to the public, with appropriate exercises. This building is the center of the youthful advocates of a large and interested membership, numbering May 1, 1,230.

The Association is organized into departments, such as Business, Educational, Information and Relief, Boys, Physical, Social, and Religious. Under these different departments, the needs of a varied and very large class of young men are met. All creeds and races are welcome to join, the one requirement being: self-respect and regard for the rights of others. The fees charged for the many privileges offered being placed at a moderate figure, and adjusted by departments, so that a member is not obliged to pay for features in which he is not particularly interested.

The Educational Department is worthy of the remaining space on this page. It was endowed with fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) by Mr. APPLETON R. HILLYER and Miss CLARA E. HILLYER, as a memorial to their deceased father, Gen. CHARLES T. HILLYER. It is known as

Trinity College,

SUMMIT STREET, HARTFORD, CONN.

GEO. WILLIAMSON SMITH, D.D., LL.D.
President;
Hobart Professor of Metaphysics.

The Charter of Washington (since 1845 Trinity) College was granted by the General Assembly in 1823; and, in consequence of the generous gifts of the citizens of Hartford to the new institution, it was located by the Trustees in that city. The Rt. Rev. T. C. Brownell, D.D., LL.D., Bishop of Connecticut, was chosen president; and in 1824 two buildings, afterwards known as Seabury Hall and Jarvis Hall, were erected on an ample site of fourteen acres, now the Capitol grounds, but then described as about three-quarters of a mile from the city. Academic work was begun, in buildings temporarily engaged for that purpose, on the 23d day of September, 1824. The beginning of a good library was soon made, and in a few years the collection of books, with those belonging to the Rev. Prof. Jarvis, was said to be the most select in the country and only less in number than that in the library of one other college. There was soon, also, a valuable museum. Two things proposed in the scheme of instruction were novel in their character: the arrangement for practical work in the scientific department, and the admission of partial students to pursue select courses of study. In 1845 the name of the College on the petition of the Alumni and the Corporation, was changed to Trinity College; in the same year a third building, Brownell Hall, was erected. In 1871 it was proposed to the College authorities that they should sell the campus to the city to be used as the site of the new State Capitol. The sale was effected, the College reserving the use of the grounds and part of the building till 1877. A new site of some eighty acres on high land south of the western part of the city, was purchased, and ground was broken in 1875 for buildings. They now consist of the west side of a projected great quadrangle more than six hundred feet in length, of stone, in the English Secular Gothic style, the several connected portions of which are known as Jarvis Hall, Northam Towers, the gift of Col. Charles H. Northam, and Seabury Hall; the Jarvis Laboratories, a building divided between the departments of Physics and Chemistry; a Hall of Natural History containing the Museum, and laboratories for Biology, Botany and Geology and Mineralogy; the St. John Observatory, a subsidiary building for recitations; a Gymnasium containing also a Hall for public meetings; the houses of the President and of Professor Ferguson. The Library in the southern portion of Seabury Hall contains about 43,000 volumes. The Museum in the Hall of Natural History has rich collections. The Chemical and Physical equipment in the Jarvis Laboratories is excellent. Within a few years liberal additions, from gifts and legacies, have been made to the funds of the College by Stephen M. Buckingham, Mrs. F. J. Holland, (daughter of Bishop Brownell), Henry Keney, Mrs. Walter Keney, Judge D. W. Pardee, G. A. Jarvis, H. E. Russell, and others.

The College offers four courses of instruction, viz:
First, a Course in Arts.
Second, a Course in Letters and Science.
Third, a Course in Science.
Fourth, a Course in Letters.
These courses extend over four years.

Students completing the Course in Arts receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts ; those completing the Course in Letters and Science, or the Course in Science, receive the degree of Bachelor of Science; and those completing the Course in Letters receive the degree of Bachelor of Letters. The Statutes provide that students who do not propose to attend the whole course of instruction may be permitted,under the name of Students in Special Courses, to recite with regular classes in such studies as, upon examination, they shall be found qualified to pursue.

The requirements for admission to the Course in Arts are as follows:

Greek:—Grammar; Anabasis, four books; Iliad three books; Prose Composition.

Latin:—Grammar; Cæsar, four books; Æneid, six books; Cicero, five orations; Extempore Translation from prose and verse; Prose Composition.

Mathematics:—Arithmetic; Algebra, through Quadratics, together with Proportion, Progressions, and the Binomial Theorem; Plane Geometry.

English:—Grammar; Composition on a subject from assigned works in English Literature.

History:—History of Greece and Rome or that of England and the United States.

Candidates for admission to other courses substitute elementary French or German for the requirements in Greek; those for the Course in Letters and Science also omit the requirement in extempore Latin translation; and Candidates for admission to the Course in Science are examined in six books of Cæsar, or three books of Cæsar and three books of the Æneid, with Latin Grammar and Composition, in Mathematics the same as in the course in Arts, in English, and in History as for the course in Arts, and in Elementary Biology, Botany, and Physical Geography, Chemistry or Physics.

A complete course in Electrical Engineering has been provided.

In addition to the Religious Studies (to which one hour a week is assigned throughout each course) each student is required to take at least fifteen hours a week. The Sophomores are allowed a choice of four out of seven studies, with certain restrictions, besides a course in English ; and four-fifths of the work of the last two years is in elective studies, in which over sixty courses are offered. The Freshmen and the Sophomores have regular work in the gymnasium, under the charge of an instructor.

Two Examinations for admission are held at the College in each year; the first at the end of June, in the week before Commencement Week, and the second in September, immediately before the beginning of Christmas Term (in 1901, September 23–26, inclusive.

The academic year is equally divided into two terms. The year begins about the 26th of September, and extends to Commencement, which falls on the last Wednesday in June (in 1901, June 26th). There is a recess of two or three weeks at Christmas, and another of ten days in the spring.

Honors are conferred in fifteen studies or groups of studies. The honor grade is obtained by students having, in any study, an average of nine on a scale of ten.

Three appointments to speak at Commencement are based on the aggregate standing at the end of Christmas term in Senior year; and three other speakers are ordinarily selected from the remaining members of the class after competition.

The Library, which is open every week day, contains about 42,000 volumes, exclusive of many duplicates and unbound pamphlets. The Burgess, Elton, Sheffield, Peters, Athenæum, Alumni, and Northam Library Funds amount to about $30,000.

The Museum, open to students every week day, and to the public Wednesdays and Saturdays from 3 to 6 P. M., contains valuable collections in Natural History, Geology and Mineralogy, including a complete suite of Ward's casts, a large collection of skeletons, specimens of rocks, photographic views, etc.

The Observatory has been recently provided with a new telescope of excellent make.

The Treasurer's bills, including tuition, room rent, heat and incidentals, vary from $242.50 to $177.50, according to the location of rooms. (Laboratory fees are to be added.) The amount of these bills is considerably reduced to holders of scholarships. For holders of those scholarships which remit the entire charges for tuition and room rent, the Treasurer's bills are reduced to $42.50; and the necessary expenses of such students, including board and other personal items, will not exceed $250 or $300 a year. Application for any scholarship should be made in writing to the President by the parent or guardian, at or before the beginning of the term in which the student intends to enter.

Most of the rooms in the College buildings are so arranged as to provide that two students rooming together have a common study and separate bedrooms. All the rooms are heated by steam, and ventilation is secured by open fire-places. Water is carried into each section.

Prizes are awarded each year for excellence in special work, as tested by written theses or examinations; for some of which special endowments have been provided ; and also for excellence in composition and declamation. To these prizes have been added recently the three Holland Prize Scholarships, each having the annual value of about $600, and the Russell Fellowship. There is also a prize offered to students for Hartford for the best examinations for admission.

The number of the Alumni of the College is 1281, of whom about 790 survive.

The faculty is at present constituted as follows:

HISTORY OF EXPRESSES.

About 1840 a tri-weekly EXPRESS between this city and New York was commenced, which was sold to Harnden & Co. in 1842, but not proving remunerative, in a few months they sold out to Daniel Phillips, who carried on this business until he consolidated with other Expresses, July 1st, 1854, as the Adams Express Company. Adolphus Harnden was the pioneer expressman between Boston and New York, and was lost with 150 other pasengers, on the burning steamer Lexington, on Long Island sound, Jan. 1840. Alvin Adams did errands and carried packages from Boston to New York via Norwich in 1840; and from the numerous post riders, who prior to 1840, used to visit cities, weekly, before the era of daily papers began, and distribute the weekly papers in all directions, as well as carrying light produce to cities and making purchases for persons on their routes; these post riders were the expressmen of former generations, announcing to customers their arrival, by blowing tin horns, instead of steam whistles. Previous to 1845 the redemption of the bills by the Hartford Banks was made weekly at the Suffolk Bank, Boston, by paying expenses of some Hartford business man, who might be going thither, to take on their carpet bag filled with bank bills and notes, and bring back their bills that had been redeemed by the Suffolk bank.

"WALNUT LODGE HOSPITAL,"

HARTFORD, CONN.

A Private Asylum for the Special Treatment of ALCOHOL and OPIUM INEBRIATES.

This Institution was founded in 1878 on the modern view that Inebriety is a Disease and Curable. Each case is made the subject of special study and special medical treatment, suited to meet the exact requirements of the case.

This is accomplished by Turkish and Saline Baths, with Electricity, Massage and various other appliances which Art, Science, and experience have proved to be valuable.

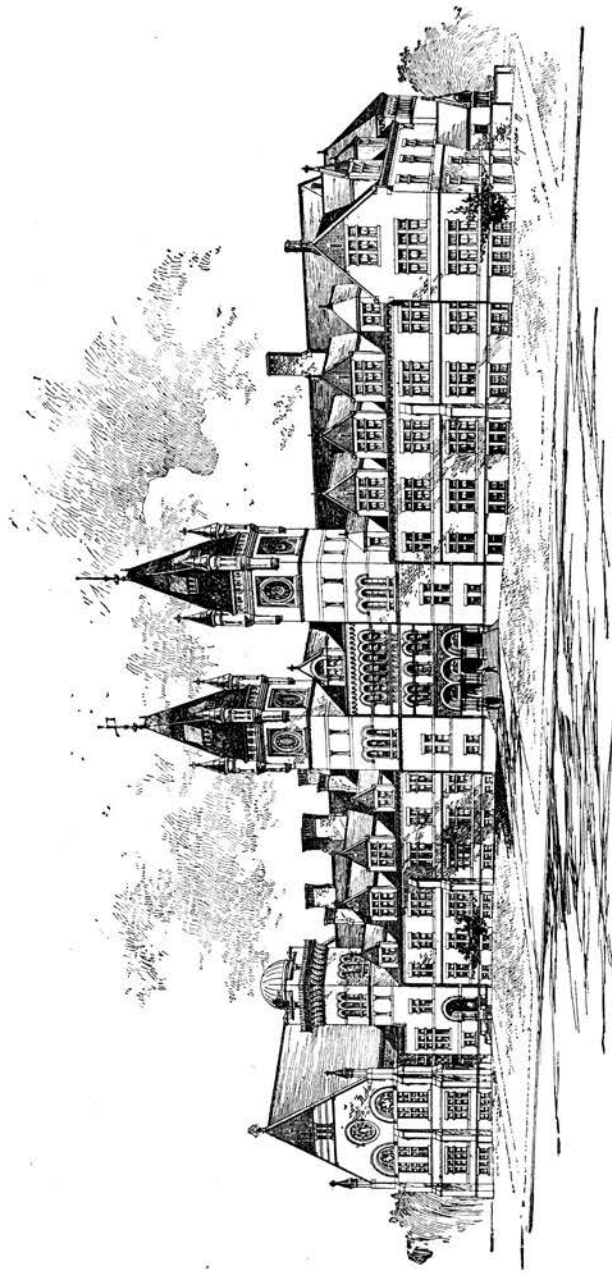

Each one is under the direct personal care of the physician and attendant, and experience shows that a large proportion of these cases are restored by the application of exact means and remedies.

Application for admission, terms, and letters of inquiry, should be addressed,

HARTFORD GRAMMAR SCHOOL.—

39 Hopkins st.

A classical school was founded in Hartford in 1638, which was partly supported by the town and partly by tuition fees. It received its first bequests in 1655, 1659, 1664 and 1680. The town for more than a century managed this school, when they petitioned in 1798 for an act of incorporation, and it was thus continued until 1847 under the corporate name of the Hartford Grammar School, when it was merged with the Classical Department of the Hartford Public High School. Previous to this merging, the school was held in a two story brick building on the southwest part of Linden place. It is free to residents of Hartford.

In 1863 the uniform prepaid rate of 3 cents for any distance in this country was adopted. Oct. 1, 1883, the rate on letters was reduced to 2 cents for each half ounce.
